DEPLORE WILL CONTEST.

Charles L. Fair's Relatives Say If One Occurs It Will Be Started by Other Side.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17.—(Special.) "There will be no contest over the will of the late Charles L. Fair—at least so far as Mrs. Oelrichs and Mrs. Vanderbilt are concerned," said Herman Oelrichs tonight. "We are perfectly willing to let the matter rest as it stands, and if there is any contest it will come from the relatives on the other side.

"I deeply regret the action of the relatives of Mrs. Fair, who, in their desire to obtain possession of the estate, have manifested what seems to me to be undue haste in the matter. It seems to me that the quesion of the disposition of the dead man's property could well go over until we got the bodies of the poor unfortunates here and laid under ground."

DETROIT, Aug. 17.—W. Ladyslaw Koustantyonwiez, who was arrested here yesterday, confessed today to the local police that he was wanted in Scranton, Pa., for the murder of a Polander in a boarding house in that city, about a year ago. He claims that the killing was done in self-defense during a fight. He will be taken to Scranton as soon as an officer arrives from that city.

M'ALEESE WILL NOT RESIGN HIS POSITION

Says He Would Not Desert a Friend When in Trouble.

THINKS CITY IS IN NEED OF BOSS

Admits Political Conditions Have Made it Difficult to Secure Discipline.

WILL BE HAPPY WHEN HE CAN GO TO THE FARM

By WALTER J. CHRISTY,
Staff Correspondent.

Fayetteville, Pa., Aug. 17.—John McAleese will not resign the superintendency of the Pittsburgh bureau of police. He said today that he would remain at the head of the department so long as Recorder J. O. Brown continues in office. As he puts it: "I will not desert a friend when he is in trouble."

In the event of Recorder Brown resigning and turning the city recordership over to some other machine man, who may think he can prevent the "deluge," McAleese says he will retire with him. Otherwise he will remain at the head of the police force of Pittsburgh until next April, when Brown's term expires. The superintendent feels that he owes much to his friend, the recorder, and ingratitude is not a part of the make-up of this Lawrence county farmer.

McAleese does not attempt to disguise the fact that he will welcome the day when he steps out of the police bureau and goes back to the plow. He does not hesitate to say that the present political conditions in Pittsburgh make official life unpleasant. Likewise he is of the opinion that the city is badly in need of a boss. Until this vacancy is filled the superintendent looks for political unrest and a certain amount of maladministration.

Happy on the Farm.

The superintendent was found today at his farm about a half mile from here. He has been working in the fields for the past 10 days and is tanned as brown as a berry. The last of his oats crop was put into the barn Friday. There is an 11-acre field of corn coming along with a promised yield of over 1,000 bushels. Nineteen fine Jerseys are grazing on the meadows and 40 pigs are grunting contentedly in the orchard. McAleese is happy here and one can see that it will be with reluctance that he will return to the city tomorrow night. It will be a happy day when he can sever his connection with official life.

John McAleese made a record as the organizer of the Pittsburgh police force after the adoption of the Wallace charter. He added to that record by his excellent administration at the jail. Then he retired to life on the farm. When J. O. Brown became recorder he insisted that McAleese return to the city and take charge of the police force. It was reluctantly that the farmer accepted the position, saying that he did so because he felt that he owed much to Brown. McAleese has had a rocky road to travel since his return. In many ways his hands have been tied. Obstacles have been thrown in his way. The enforcement of discipline has often been made impossible because others higher in authority were more interested in politics than good government. These things are not admitted by the superintendent. He bears his burdens and is loyal to his superiors.

Will Stick With Brown.

It was while perched on the top rail of the stake and rider fence dividing the pasture field from the meadow that McAleese received the first information that he was expected to resign. He read a long article carefully and then looked over to where his Jerseys were grazing. After a short silence he remarked: "I am at a loss to know where that story originated."

"Is it true?" was asked.

There was a snap to those piercing eyes of the superintendent as he jumped to the ground and declared himself in this wise:

"Those who are familiar with me know that I never desert a friend when he is in trouble. I will stick to a finish. It was not my wish to leave this pleasant life and return to the responsibilities of the police department. Mr. Brown urged me and I could not refuse my assistance. He never deserted me when I needed a friend. I went back expecting to find the same force I had organized 15 years ago. There had been many changes in my absence. New men had come in and probably some of them thought it unfair that I should be brought back. There have been mistakes made in the bureau. Good men often make mistakes and redeem themselves afterward. We have been severely criticised and quite often unfairly. I have done the best I can and intend to continue giving the city the most efficient service at my command. So long as Mr. Brown wants me I will remain."

Politics to Blame.

The superintendent says that the political unrest in Pittsburgh has made it difficult at times to enforce discipline. This was a condition with which he did not have to contend in his former connection with the force. McAleese looked out over the cornfield for a time and then remarked that the city appeared to need a good political boss and there would be dissension and strife until the right man is at the helm. The writer asked the superintendent if he had read the editorial on Recorder Brown printed in the machine organ of Saturday. He had not, and the article was handed him. When he had carefully digested the column of sadness he remarked:

"It seems odd coming from that source. I have always thought and still think that there is no man in Pittsburgh better equipped to administer the affairs of the city than Mr. Brown."

"Our troubles all seem to have come in

GOVERNOR STONE HAS HAD ENOUGH POLITICAL LIFE

Declares He Would Not Accept Another Office If Tendered.

RETURNS TO LAW IN PITTSBURGH

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Williamsport, Pa., Aug. 17.—Returning from a visit to Tioga county, Gov. William A. Stone last night in an interview here said:

"I'm through with politics. It doesn't pay, and I would not accept another office if it were tendered me. I've been taking an active part in politics for about 22 years, but now I've had my fill of office holding. I am leaving politics by no means a wealthy man, though with the aid of my law practice I have been placed in good circumstances.

"My public life has been productive of much hardship for me and the making of many enemies, though it has also brought me some good friends. The man in the governor's chair is made the helpless butt of all sorts of abuse and criticism, and of these I have had my share. Indeed, a man less hardy constituted or of a more timid nature might have grown discouraged and ill if put in my place. But I kept on doing what I thought was right, and never lose any meals or sleep over the result.

"Now you may take, for instance, these cartoons and editorials that some of the papers are printing about me. They don't make me a bit cross, because I always consider what really inspires them.

Not Blind to the Humor.

"Some of my friends watch those cartoons and have a good deal of fun over them, and I frequently laugh over them myself, but never take them seriously. I fish and hunt and take a good deal of exercise and while people are attacking me I'm looking after my health.

"In regard to my plans for the future, they have been formed for some time, and will not be changed. When my term expires, next winter, I shall go right to practicing law in Pittsburgh. You know I have two partners there with whom I have at no time severed connections, and all I shall have to do is go into the office and get to work. It will be a relief to me, too. I am 60 years old, and feel that I have been before the public long enough.

"It will be hard for me to explain how I have happened to hold office so long. I never sought it—my friends always did the hustling for me and got the office and I had to fill it. My first office was that of district attorney of Tioga and since that time I have been before the public in this state constantly. I don't claim to have any great ability. It is true that the office of governor of Pennsylvania is a very honorable one—on account of the perogatives that go with it it ranks next to that of president of the United States—and yet, as I said, I don't claim any personal credit for rising to it.

Happiness in the Home.

"I have been married twice and raised a family of healthy children. I shall have more time to spend with my family when I return to private life, and shall be glad of it.

"I had been asked several times by the coal mine operators to send troops to the region, but in nearly every instance the disturbance was of an individual nature and I replied that the civil outhorities should handle it. But when the riot was started at Shenandoah and bloodshed resulted there was nothing to do but to protect life and property. I know I did right in sending the soldiers. Their presence in Shenandoah has positively no bearing on the strike and no political significance; they are there simply on a commonwealth mission. I have great respect for the union leaders in the coal field and know they do everything in their power to preserve order, but the turbulent element will get beyond their control at times. I have no idea when I shall recall the troops. Things may quiet down enough in a short time to warrant their withdrawal and they need not necessarily be left there until the strike is settled. That is not the idea at all."

PITTSBURGH GIRL HURT AT LITTLE WASHINGTON

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Aug. 17.—Miss Margaret Hagan of Pittsburgh was badly injured here this evening. Miss Hagan, accompanied by her brother, D. S. Hagan, secretary and treasurer of the Pittsburgh Window Glass Company; a young woman friend and Mr. Hagan's small son, was driving this evening, and while going up Walnut street the rear seat slipped out, throwing the young woman to the ground.

When picked up it was found, on examination, that Miss Hagan had suffered concussion of the brain and was in a serious, although not dangerous, condition. Her friend was also slightly injured. The young women were taken to the Hagan home, at No. 170 Hall avenue, where their injuries were attended to.

Wounded Burglar Dead.

DETROIT, Aug. 17.—Edward Lenehan died at Emergency hospital today from hemorrhage caused by a bullet from Officer F. J. Lemond's revolver. Patrolman Lemond discovered four burglars entering a grocery on Brooklyn avenue, early yesterday morning. They opened fire on him. The policeman fired but one shot in return and it struck Lenehan in the hip, penetrating into his abdomen. A second of the burglars is under arrest.

BIG GATHERING OF PARTY CHIEFS AT QUAY COTTAGE

Quay Approves Citizens Action in Indorsing Pennypacker.

REGULAR PROTEST WILL NOT AVAIL

By CHESTER D. POTTER,
Staff Correspondent.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 17.—There was quite a gathering of Republican leaders at the Quay cottage today. Senator Penrose and Secretary W. R. Andrews came down from Philadelphia and Pittsburgh was also represented. Penrose and Andrews had a number of important matters which they wished to submit to Chairman Quay, and the Pittsburgh delegation turned the kaleidoscope on home affairs.

Col. Quay is well into the convalescent stage. His scalded foot is rapidly healing, and new skin now covers the injured area. So confident is the senator that the danger point has passed that he has arranged to go out for a fishing trip with Capt. B. F. Sooy on Wednesday.

Sunday the senator will go to Philadelphia and Thursday following will find him on the quarterdeck at state headquarters. Then there will be "doings."

While Senator Quay will not be quoted, it can be stated that he approves of the action of the Citizens party leaders in going ahead and filing their nomination papers without waiting for a letter of public acceptance from Judge Pennypacker.

There is much talk of the protest which, it is said, the regular Pittsburgh organization will make at the meeting of the state committee against Pennypacker's acceptance of the Citizens party indorsement. If such a protest is made it will fail of its purpose. Neither the state committee nor the candidates on the state ticket are officially involved by this indorsement.

Chairman Quay said today that no invitations to prospective speakers on the Pennypacker tour had been out. Nothing, he said, had been settled as to when the tour would begin, or in what cities the opening speeches would be made. He did not think the judge would take the stump before September 1, and thought that an unnecessarily early date.

EXCURSION TRAIN CRASHES INTO FREIGHT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—George W. Farris, 21 years old, of Cave City, Ky., was killed, and his brother, Daniel E. Farris, 28 years old, of Millett, Mich., was fatally injured by a railroad accident at Hammond, Ind., today.

They were on a Chicago & Erie freight train which was standing on the tracks at Hammond, when it was crashed into by an excursion train, running on a special schedule on the Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville road. The excursion train had 600 passengers from southern Ohio, and was running 40 miles an hour.

The Farris brothers were in the caboose of the freight train. Several of the excursionists, who were painfully cut and bruised, had their wounds dressed at the Hammond hospital, but the hospital attendants did not take their names. The locomotive and the baggage car of the excursion train were badly wrecked, but the passenger coaches were not much damaged. As soon as the tracks could be cleared the excursion train proceeded toward Cincinnati with all its passengers.

WOMAN IS CHOKED, CHILDREN SCARED AND MONEY STOLEN

Hungarian Miner Identified as Perpetrator of Startling Crime.

IS NOW IN JAIL AT IRWIN

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Irwin, Pa., Aug. 17.—Sura Supoa, a Hungarian miner, is under arrest here for an assault and robbery that has no parallel in the crimes committed in the coal region of this part of the state in recent years.

Thursday morning Supoa entered the home of Peter Kosonick, at the Jamison coal works, and found Kosonick's wife and three children alone in the house. Supoa took the little ones into the rear room and told them to make no outcry or he would kill them. He then locked the door, and, approaching the terrorized mother, demanded the money in the house.

She replied that she had none, as her husband carried all they had. At this, he sprang at the woman, seized her by the throat and choked her until she was almost unconscious, still demanding the money. Fearing her life, the woman finally told him that the money was hidden in the bed, and after a short search he found $185, which he took.

Kosonick arrived home an hour later and found his wife nearly crazed and the children still huddled together in the rear room. He learned what had happened, and gave the alarm. Suspicion rested upon Supoa because he had been seen about the place earlier and then disappeared. He was traced to Irwin, and early this morning was found at the Larimer mine by Constable Meerhoff.

CRAWFORD RETURNING WITH ALL THE PROMISES

Keeps Full Results of Visit to Republican State Candidates For Citizens Leaders.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Aug. 17.—Chas. S. Crawford, before leaving for Pittsburgh tonight, said he had sent a telegram to leaders of the Citizens party, saying that ex-Judge Pennypacker and the two Browns, Republican nominees, would head the fusion ticket in Allegheny county.

"I think Pittsburghers should know first what there is to tell," said he, "so I have nothing more to say about whom I've seen or regarding political matters."

Mr. Crawford has practically been in Philadelphia for a week. He was in Pittsburgh one day, returning here on the day following. When he was not in conference with Mr. Pennypacker or some of the Republican leaders he was visiting friends in Germantown. He intimated tonight, before taking the midnight train for the west, that his mission in Philadelphia was at an end.

The refusal of the Citizens party agent to throw any more light on the Republican-Fusion deal in Allegheny county is thought to be in keeping with Senator Quay's suggestion to Judge Pennypacker that the least said the better. Thus far Mr. Pennypacker has made no public statement on the Pittsburgh situation, more than to express his thanks for the "indorsement."

It has been suggested that a long letter of acceptance might be interpreted as indicating a need of the Citizen party's votes to insure the election of the Republican nominees.

RIXEY AT OYSTER BAY.

Hears from Mrs. McKinley That Her Health Is Satisfactory.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 17.—President Roosevelt and family attended Christ's Episcopal church today. Dr. P. M. Rixey, surgeon general of the United States navy, and Mrs. Rixey spent the day at Sagamore hill. They will return to Washington tomorrow.

Dr. Rixey today stated that he had heard from Mrs. McKinley within the last few days and that her health was very satisfactory.

FICKLENESS OF HIS SWEETHEART CAUSED SUICIDE

Richard J. Lynch Became Crazed When He Heard of It.

THREW HIMSELF IN THE OHIO RIVER

Weakened by fever and half crazed by the fact that his sweetheart had allied herself with another, Richard J. Lynch, 28 years old, of No. 2017 Beaver avenue, Allegheny, ran from his house without hat and coat to the foot of Bayard avenue and committed suicide by jumping off the sewer wall 20 feet into the Ohio river and drowning himself yesterday evening shortly after 5 o'clock. His body was recovered one hour later.

He was a motorman and had been working until a few days ago. He was not well, and when he learned from his friend, Thomas H. Durbin, who came from his home at Plymouth, Pa., that his promised wife had forsaken him for another, he became partially demented.

Lynch was a hard worker and was putting his savings away with the prospects of getting married. Last Monday he complained of a sore throat and his friends told him that he was not looking well and ought to lay off for awhile. He told them that he could not give up work then, as he expected to get married shortly and needed all the money he could earn.

Wednesday his friend, Thomas H. Durbin, came from his home at Plymouth and told him of his sweetheart's fickleness. This staggered him at the time. The next day he was compelled to remain in his room and a physician found he had a slight fever. His friend stayed with him. Yesterday he became partly delirious and mourned over his sweetheart's loss until he became crazed again.

Lynch became calmer in the afternoon and Durbin thought he would go for the physician. He left Lynch in the room. He had hardly reached the corner of Bayard and Beaver avenues when he heard a man running back of him.

He turned and saw that it was Lynch. He was without a hat or coat. The unfortunate man was running straight for the river.

He rushed by Durbin without recognizing him. Durbin started after him and called to him. The crazed man continued to the foot of Bayard avenue, and, rushing up on the sewer wall, leaped high in the air and fell into the river. He sank immediately.

When Durbin reached the sewer wall his friend had disappeared from sight. He called for help and every effort was made to find him. It was no use, however, as Lynch's body never came to the surface of the water again.

About one hour later it was found in almost the same place where he is supposed to have gone down. Lynch had been working on the street cars in Allegheny and Pittsburgh for over a year. He was industrious and was liked by his fellow workmen. His remains were identified at the morgue last night by his friend Durbin. They will be sent to the home of his parents today.

New Pastor Installed.

The Rev. W. C. McFall preached his first sermon in the Sewickley Baptist church yesterday morning, before a large congregation. Mr. McFall is appointed to take the place left vacant six months ago by the Rev. William McKinney, and is a prominent minister of the Baptist denomination. Mr. McKinney is now located at New Brighton. Morning and evening services were held, as usual.

SEASICKNESS ONLY DRAWBACK ON RETURN TRIP

Columbia Pitched Badly First Few Days and Teachers Felt Effect.

SUNSHINE COMES TO CLOSE VOYAGE

By LOUIS W. STRAYER,
Staff Correspondent.

New York, Aug. 17.—The voyage home of the Pittsburgh Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph party of teachers was a fitting climax to the successful tour. It provided the rest and quiet that the tired teachers needed after weeks of travel and sightseeing, a pleasure that was keenly appreciated, but which proved a severe mental and physical strain.

We left Glasgow, by rail, at 9:10 a. m. on Saturday, August 9, and arrived at Stobeross quay at 11 o'clock. Here we caught the first glimpse of the Columbia, the ship that was to carry us home. She rode gracefully at anchor a few hundred yards from the wharf and the Stars and Stripes fluttering from her foremast was a welcome and inspiring sight to the teachers.

We went aboard the Anchor Line tender, and there parted company with Herr Schinko, our conductor. It was with a feeling of personal loss that the American teachers said good-by to him, for during the few weeks that he had piloted us through Europe, they had learned to rely upon him to save them from the cares and responsibilities that usually surround the tourist. But Herr Schinko already had another party awaiting him in Paris, and he was obliged to bid us a hasty good-by and start for France.

Voyage Begins Auspiciously.

We were taken on board the Columbia and luncheon was served as soon as we had located our staterooms. Promptly at noon anchor was hoisted and the ship was under way. The sea was smooth and the voyage began auspiciously. Early in the evening we reached Moville, and after taking on a number of passengers was soon under way again and bound for home.

In the quiet of the evening, sitting comfortable upon the deck, it is probable that every member of the party realized more fully than ever before the meaning of that word—home. The tour for which the teachers and their friends had toiled so hard was now a thing of the past. The prize has been awarded, and it has been satisfying in every respect. Every winner enthusiastically admitted that more could not have been wished for. Providence had favored the tour with its kindest provisions. The management had been perfect. But now it was a retrospect and as the coast of Ireland faded in the distance thoughts turned to home and friends.

Four thousand miles of water and land lay between us and Pittsburgh, but the rumble of the engines told us that every revolution of the screws brought us nearer to our goal. A drizzling rain set in and soon the decks were deserted. Seven bells struck and from the crow's nest came the word: "The lights are burning and all's well, sir."

Pains of the Ocean Trip.

On Sunday there was a heavy swell on the ocean and many of The Gazette party succumbed to seasickness. It is a sad statement, but frankness compels the admission the good ship Columbia pitched after a fashion that was scandalous and was most distressing. One little schoolma'am went into luncheon, merely as a matter of form, and sat irresolute as to whether to take soup or not.

"Oh, my! Really I don't know whether to take soup or not," she said.

Then turning to the steward she said: "Yes, I will take some, and please bring it quick."

During the afternoon a stewardess walked into a stateroom and found one of the teachers lying prone upon the floor, moaning in her distress.

"My dear child," said the stewardess, "why are you lying there on the floor?"

"Oh, oh," replied the teacher, "that board is so awfully high," pointing to the little board, about four inches broad, that served as a railing to keep her from rolling out of her bunk. It was too great an obstacle for the seasick teacher, and the stewardess kindly lowered it and helped the patient into the berth.

Many other incidents occurred that were very funny to those who were not seasick. To those who were, the humor did not appeal.

Services in Music Room.

Divine services were held at 10:30 in the music room, conducted by Prof. James A. Kelso of the Western Theological seminary. Miss Mary E. Steele of Pittsburgh, presided at the organ. In the evening a song service was held and Prof. Kelso had charge and Miss Steele played the hymns. Miss Semmelrock, Miss Lynton, Miss Klein and Miss Tiegel led the singing.

On Monday there was a high wind and the sea was rather rough, but most of the seasick passengers had recovered sufficiently to be on deck. Many of the teachers began the task of elaborating on the notes taken during the tour. Shuffleboard and ring-a-toss were played, and the passengers settled down to the routine of a trans-Atlantic voyage.

On Tuesday a family of four whales swam near the ship and spouted for our amusement. The day was beautiful and for the remainder of the voyage the weather was all that could be desired.

On Friday evening occurred the event of the voyage. It was the concert, which is the social event of every trip across the Atlantic. Mr. Fred Rullman, acting manager of the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company of New York, undertook the management of the affair, and it proved a great success, artistically and financially. The receipts were $19, which goes to the benefit of the sailors' orphans.

Two of Party on Program.

Two members of our party, Miss Semmerlock and Miss Wachob, sang, and both received enthusiastic encores. Miss Semmerlock was on for two numbers and at the close she led in singing "God Save the King," "America" and "Auld Lang Syne."

Saturday was spent in arranging the baggage for lading and in preparing for

HAPPY TOUR OF TEACHERS COMES TO END

Many Friends on Pier in New York to Welcome Them Home.

DELIGHTFUL TRIP AND ALL ARE WELL

Long Delay After Ship's Arrival Caused by Customs Officials' Red Tape.

MANY WILL ARRIVE HERE THIS MORNING

By GEORGE C. JENKS,
Staff Correspondent.

New York, Aug. 17.—The Gazette teachers are home. They reached New York about 11 o'clock this morning, although the ship was warped to her pier between 8 and 9 o'clock. The custom house inspectors did the rest. There may be people that can get through the New York custom house in less than two hours, but The Gazette's party were a good two hours working their way through to the satisfaction of Uncle Sam's representatives. No one minded that, however, so long as her foot was on American soil after six weeks of absence.

Home again! That was the music ringing through every heart, and the members of "The Pittsburgh Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph Teachers' European Excursion" party heard only that glorious strain, and nothing else. Europe is all very well, but more is home, after all.

There was a large and eager party waiting on the pier of the Anchor line at the foot of West Twenty-fourth street as early as 7 o'clock this morning. The good ship Columbia had been reported hours before as about to enter the harbor, with the signal "all's well" flying at her main peak. So the relatives and friends of many of the excursionists who had come to New York the day before to welcome home the tourists were fairly well content to wait the hour or two that elapsed before the steamer arrived.

First Sight of Ship.

At last those with field glasses suddenly exclaimed, "There she is," as they caught a glimpse of the big vessel plowing up the Narrows, her three smokestacks sending up ribbons of curling smoke, while the stars and stripes at the top of the foremast fluttered gaily in the breeze.

It was a lovely morning. The sunlight glistened on the polished brasswork of the ship, and brought the voyagers into port in a halo of yellow glory. The Columbia came up the bay under her own steam most of the way, but was obliged to enlist the services of several fussy little tugs to run into her slip. As soon as the vessel was near enough for the watchers on shore to recognize the faces of those on board there was a storm of greetings, as the seemingly endless task of getting the cables fastened and the gangplanks out was carried on.

I. F. Bailey, representing The Pittsburgh Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph, was at the gangplank on the pier. Before the plank was ready for use Mr. Bailey sung out to Louis W. Strayer, who was leaning over the side of the steamer: "How is everybody?"

"Splendid," came back the answer. "Could not be better."

And Perfectly Lovely Time.

"And we had a perfectly lovely time," was chorused in feminine tones.

Once on the pier, the members of the party were caught in the arms of relatives, and there were embraces, kisses and happy tears for a few minutes. Then came the serious business of getting baggage through the customs house. Several of the excursionists declared that the port of New York was the only place at which they had found even a hint of difficulty. Everywhere abroad it had been an easy matter to cross a frontier or enter a foreign harbor. But the United States government is more strict and the teachers had the annoying experience of delay which comes to every passenger entering New York by the seagate.

It is to be presumed that there was no smuggling, although one could not help noticing that several of the young women were a good deal of handsome lace trimmings on their hats, while chiffon boas and other dainty gauds bearing the unmistakable stamp of Paris clasped more than one fair neck. Perhaps the inspectors had their suspicions, but if they had they were gallant Americans and they said nothing. Pittsburghers are allowed to bring in a certain amount of wearing apparel free, anyhow.

Some Come Directly Home.

The headquarters of the party was the Fifth Avenue hotel, and thither everyone repaired as soon as possible. An informal reception was held at the hotel, and the teachers recounted their experiences to their friends, and declared over and over again that they had the greatest holiday of their lives. Many of them left New York for Pittsburgh this evening and will be home Monday morning. Others will stay in this city for a day or two to shop and to attend the concert of the Duss band at St. Nicholas garden Monday evening, which was arranged by Mr. Duss specially in their honor.

A few of the tourists will remain in Europe for a short time longer, that being a privilege allowed by The Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph, which will defray the expense of the voyage at any time this season. Miss Edith J. Latshaw, the brilliant musician of Pittsburgh, intends to remain in Munich for a year or two to complete her musical education. She is accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Sophia Latshaw.

ALL DISTRESS AMONG MINERS IS RELIEVED

Mitchell Says Financial End of Anthracite Strike Is Working Smoothly.

SITUATION IS UNCHANGED

Some Shipments of Bituminous Into Eastern Market, but None of Hard Coal Since Struggle Began—Conditions in West Virginia.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 17.—President John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers of America arrived here at noon today on his way to Spring Valley, Ill., to visit his family. While in the west Mr. Mitchell will go to Chicago to confer with leaders of the miners of Illinois. He expects to return to Wilkesbarre Wednesday.

George W. Purcell of Terre Haute, member of the executive board from the Indiana district, who has been in the West Virginia strike field since the first part of June, was in the city also and conferred with President Mitchell and Secretary Wilson.

"The situation in the strike field remains the same," said Mr. Mitchell. "There has been no change and I do not anticipate any until the trouble is finally settled. The men are just as determined as ever to win and will stick it out as long as necessary, so that it all depends upon the action of the operators when the strike will terminate.

"The financial end of the strike is being kept up in a very satisfactory manner, and we have been able to relieve every case of distress. There is no doubt that we will be able to continue to do this.

"It is true that some of the miners have left the field. When the strike first broke out quite a number of the non-English speaking young men returned to their native countries and other miners have gone to the bituminous field and secured employment. There has been very little emigration of miners of late, however. I expect that, all told, about 18,000 men have left the anthracite field since the strike began. Except for this, the number of strikers is as large as ever.

"There have been some shipments of soft coal into the eastern market, but I cannot say how many tons have been sent there. There have been no shipments of anthracite coal since the strike began and the supply of that article is now practically exhausted."

Mr. Mitchell insists the men must and will win the strike. He left for Chicago tonight.

WILKESBARRE, PA., Aug. 17.—It is said an attempt will be made to start the Maltby colliery of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company tomorrow. About 20 electric lights have been strung within the inclosure and fully 50 coal and iron policemen were taken to the mine this evening. The electric lights will enable the guards to be stationed at many points and have a clear view of all the surroundings.

CLARKSBURG, W. VA., Aug. 17.—Yesterday the Merchants Coal Company at Tunnelton signed the scale and union men will go to work in the morning. The capacity of the plant will be doubled. William Warner, formerly an organizer, is now superintendent. The coal company at Newburg also signed the scale. Both plants work about 250 miners.

MADE NO ADMISSIONS.

New Suspect in Bartholin Murder Mystery Refuses to Tell What He Knows.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—Edward Counselman, who was arrested yesterday in connection with the Bartholin-Mitchell murder mystery, was subjected to a rigid examination today by Inspector Hunt, but made no incriminating admissions. After an hour's questioning Counselman finally blurted out:

"If I knew where William Bartholin was I would not tell you."

Counselman evaded an explanation of why he abused his wife when she refused to return to him the letter that he had received from Bartholin July 12, summoning him to Bartholin's home, five days after the murder of Mrs. Bartholin. Inspector Hunt still believes that Counselman has some knowledge of the mystery and will subject the prisoner to another examination tomorrow.

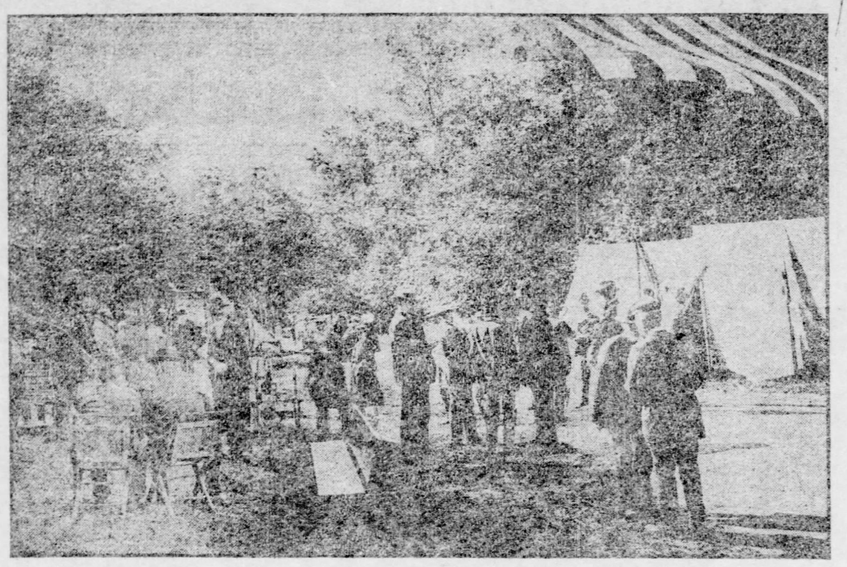
ALAMEDA PARK IS FILLED WITH THE WORN BLUE UNIFORMS OF CIVIL WAR VETERANS



Veterans Recall Their Wartime Experiences.

About 300 people attended the G. A. R. outing at Alameda park, near Butler, yesterday and listened to the services conducted in the afternoon by National Chaplain T. N. Boyle and Department Chaplain Sayres of Philadelphia. Music was furnished by a choir of 20 voices.

The opening prayer was made by the Rev. Mr. Nicklas of the Grace Lutheran church, Butler, and the Scripture lesson was read by the Rev. Mr. Long of Bethany Reformed church. The principal address was made by Chaplain Sayres, who also closed the services with the benediction. Most of the veterans spent the day in renewing old friendships and recalling incidents in the campaigns of the civil war.

M'ALEESE WILL NOT RESIGN HIS POSITION

a bunch," said the superintendent as he continued his discussion of the police bureau. "We were severely criticised for the arrest of Feightly as a suspect in the murder of the King woman. I would not change my course in that case if I had to do it over again. We were informed that an 'ice man' had been with the woman before she was killed from a woman living opposite the Curran saloon; a description of a man who was seen leaving the place just after the murder was gotton. It fit Feightly. When we arrested him the woman positively identified him as a man she saw running out of the saloon. We felt that this justified us in holding him. An investigation proved that the Sixth avenue woman was wrong. Since then we have had a bunch of misfortune. Some officers have acted indiscreetly and in other cases the criticism has not been just."

Would Go With Brown.

The superintendent would welcome an announcement from Brown that he is willing to step out of the recordership. If in order to "prevent the deluge," the recorder says to the machine that it can select another to pull the organization out of the hole, then McAleese will hand in his resignation. Brown's oil wells are said to be flowing a stream estimated at $300 a day. He is also reported to be tired of his job. Of course, it seems strange, but he might toss the reins to some of his machine critics and tell them to whip up and show their superior drivership in beating out that "deluge."

After this McAleese dropped the subject of official worries and grew eloquent about a lazy mother pig that was grunting about the barn yard. "See that hog," said he; "I have had to put seven rings in her snout to stop her roting and I guess it will take a couple more before she is weaned of her desire to plow the farm."

Skipping from ringing pigs to fertilizer the superintendent remarked that he had just contracted for 20 tons of lime. Then he flopped back into live stock and spoke at length on the wisdom of deborning cattle. His Jerseys are all hornless. The conversation then turned to the orchard, where five acres of apple trees are bending with their load of fruit. "I would like to be back here for cider making," he remarked. I am an expert at that. When a man drinks a pint of that cider he mellows like a golden sweet apple. If he tackles the second pint he is liable to stand on the front porch and believe he holds deeds for the entire valley and forget that he was ever a superintendent of police or that newspapers are printed."

RAMSEY WILL SOON CHOOSE OHIO SURVEY

Route For Connecting Line Between Zanesville and Parkersburg Will Be Decided on Shortly.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ZANESVILLE, O., Aug. 17.—The next move of the Wabash on the railway checker board of southeastern Ohio is due, and will be made within a few days at the latest. The four surveys by the Wabash interests to determine the best route for the connection between the Wheeling & Lake Erie at this point and the West Virginia Central at Parkersburg have just been completed, and the selection of the most suitable one is soon to be made by President Ramsey. That official was expected here a week ago to make the selection and to determine some matters relating to the route of the road through this city, but has been delayed by various causes.

Three of the four routes surveyed for the extension to West Virginia traverse the west side of the Muskingum river, passing through Muskingum, Morgan, Perry and Washington counties. The other survey follows the east bank of the Muskingum to McConnelsville and crosses there to the west. The average distance from here to Parkersburg by these routes is 61 miles, and there is a difference of but one or two miles between any two of them. All four of the surveys pass through the 30,000 acres of coal lands recently bought in southern Ohio by the Gould interests.

In 1870 when the Cincinnati & Muskingum Valley railway was built, President Ramsey was assistant to the late C. C. Waite. He was then only 20 years old, but since then his rise in the railway world has been very rapid. Well-informed railway men here are inclined to think that President Ramsey may postpone making a choice from the four Parkersburg surveys until the sale of the Columbus, Sandusky & Hocking railway, which takes place at Columbus next month. Should the Goulds secure that road, its terminal facilities here would simplify matters so far as Zanesville is concerned, and a few miles of its track could be utilized in the extension to Parkersburg. Its use would vitally affect the choice of routes.

BOERS PLEASED WITH REGEPTION BY KING EDWARD

His Majesty Talks to Generals of Their Brave and Gallant Fight.

TAKE TRIP AROUND FLEET

Return to London Accompanied bby Roberts and Kitchener—Declined First Invitation Because It Came From Secretary Chamberlain.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

London, Aug. 17.—The Boer generals Botha, DeWet and Delarey, who reached here yesterday from South Africa, left London at 9:30 o'clock this morning for Cowes, Isle of Wight, to see King Edward on board the royal yacht Victoria and Albert.

The hour of the generals' departure from London was kept secret; consequently the streets were deserted when the three generals, accompanied by their secretaries, but by none of the ladies of their party, started for Cowes. They were stylishly attired in frock coats and silk hats.

Upon arriving at Southampton the Boer generals were welcomed on board the commander-in-chief's yacht Wildfier by Earl Roberts and Gen. Lord Kitchener. They immediately visited King Edward on board the Victoria and Albert and were then taken for a trip around the fleet in the Wildfire.

The reception by his majesty lasted a quarter of an hour. The king spoke of "the gallant and brave manner" in which the generals had fought through the long and arduous campaign, and of "the consideration and kindness" with which the generals had treated British wounded.

His majesty expressed his warm wishes for their futures. It was at the king's suggestion that the Boers took the trip around the fleet on board the Wildfire.

Pleased With Interview.

They returned to London this evening accompanied by Earl Roberts and Gen. Lord Kitchener, who took leave of the Boers at Waterloo station.

In an interview with a representative of the Associated Press, Gen. Botha's secretary described the visit to his majesty. He said that when the Boer generals boarded the royal yacht King Edward came forward, and after they had been introduced, shook hands with each of them.

The Boers were highly pleased with their reception. After a brief and informal talk with King Edward they were introduced to Queen Alexandra and Princess Victoria.

During the voyage from South Africa Gen. DeWet did not mix much with his fellow passengers. His was engaged most of the time in writing his book on the South African war. In common with his colleagues, snapshot photographs were constantly being taken of him, and he was worried with requests for his autograph until he had to protest against the nuisance. Gen. Botha, on the contrary, was extremely genial and indulged in all the sports on shipboard. He was constantly in the smoking room, where he played cards. Gen. Delarey, besides playing draughts, took keen pleasure in discussions with British army officers on board the steamer.

Gen. Botha Annoyed.

It is said that Gen. Botha is greatly annoyed that his home at Vryheid has been annexed to Natal.

The premier of Natal is reported to have offered Gen. Botha a place in the Natal ministry, which the general declined.

The refusal of the Boer generals to witness the review of the fleet at Spithead or see King Edward yesterday caused great exultation in the continental press and undoubtedly upset the plans of Colonial Secretary Chamberlain.

Mr. Chamberlain had appeared extremely anxious that the generals should see no newspaper representatives before their visit to King Edward and he accordingly caused instructions to be issued that no reporters be allowed on board the Wildfire or Nigeria while very unusual restrictions were placed on all reporters.

The general impression is that Gen. Botha and his companions declined the invitation to witness the review and see King Edward because it came direct from Mr. Chamberlain; but on receiving the king's personal invitation for Sunday they readily accepted.

the wrestle with the customs officers. The plans of the party upon reaching New York were various. Some decided to go directly to their homes, while others had a trip up the Hudson in view. Still others expect to meet friends in New York and remain there for a few days of shopping. But the first Monday of September will find all of The Gazette tourists in the school rooms, with their views broadened and their teaching abilities greatly enhanced by the European tour, which they have just completed.

On Thursday evening a meeting of the teachers was held, at which a permanent organization was formed by electing Mrs. M. B. Redman president and Miss Ella Linton secretary. It was decided to meet at the exposition this fall on the first Friday night that Damrosch's orchestra plays there. A block of seats will be reserved for this performance and the teachers will be permitted to enjoy the music and between numbers indulge in reminiscences of the European tour.

Not a Detail Neglected.

The following testimonial was adopted and presented to The Gazette representative:

STEAMSHIP COLUMBIA,
MID-OCEAN, Aug. 13, 1902.

We, the undersigned teachers elected to participate in the European tour offered by the Pittsburg Gazette to those papers the successful manner in which they have carried out their promised tour. Every provision was made for our comfort and pleasure from the time we left Pittsburgh till our return. The trip has surpassed our most sanguine expectations in every detail, and we wish to express our appreciation to those papers.

SAYS TWO CEREMONIES WERE PERFORMED

Mrs. Laura Biggar Claims to Have Married Henry M. Bennett in 1898.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—When a boy was born to Laura Biggar on July 30 in the sanitarium of Dr. Hedricks at Bergen Point, N. J., the former actress announced that she had been married to Henry M. Bennett, the Pittsburgh millionaire, in 1898. Two ceremonies, she said, had been performed, one religious and one civil.

Where these marriages took place and their dates could not be learned today, and these details are being carefully suppressed for the present. Even the identity of Miss Biggar's counsel is a secret. Should Miss Biggar's counsel succeed in establishing the birth of the baby, who lived only 15 days, it will come as a particularly hard blow to the other chief beneficiary in the will, Peter J. McNulty of Pittsburgh, who had until a fortnight ago every reason to believe that he was $400,000 better off than before Mr. Bennett's death.

Mr. Bennett, who was about 71 years old, died early in April of this year at his home in Farmingdale, N. J. He had been cared for for some years by Laura Biggar, the divorced wife of Burt Haverly, the minstrel, and when Mr. Bennett's will was read it was found that he had left her properly amounting in value to about $850,000.

KNOX AND HANNA FOR THE LABOR DAY SPEECHES

Executive Committee Will Meet Today to Lay Plans to Bring Them Here.

WILL ENHANCE EVENT

Leaders Favor Inviting P. C. Knox and Mark Hanna—Third Division Organized Yesterday With 39 Grades of 13,000 Men.

Chairman George W. Miller of the Labor Day executive committee will call a special meeting of the committee today to arrange to bring Senator Mark Hanna of Ohio to Pittsburgh as the principal speaker of the demonstration, with Attorney General P. C. Knox as his partner. Practically all members of this committee, of which there are only five, have already taken up the plan with avidity. They say that the only regret is that the idea was not brought up before.

The committee will probably arrange to send a special committee to Senator Hanna to ask that he be present. The reason for this plan is that Mr. Hanna has recently voiced his approval of organization for labor as a most important step in the solution of differences that may arise between capital and labor.

Should Lose No Time.

Chairman Miller of the Labor Day executive committee, who represents the Order of Railway Conductors, declared last night that no time should be lost in arranging to have Senator Hanna here. He said, "I only regret that through unfortunate oversight we may have delayed a move too long. If the senator has no other engagement for Labor Day we may yet be fortunate. His aggressive participation in the formation of the civic federation has shown to a certainty his attitude on the questions now engrossing capital and labor. No one man would be more welcome by an assemblage of the workingmen, and if we can get him to come here it will augment the Labor Day crowd by many thousands.

"We could accomplish another master stroke by arranging to have Attorney General P. C. Knox come here to address us, but there is against this fact that Mr. Knox was here with the president on the Fourth of July and it may therefore be impossible to get him to consent to come."

Frank Greggs, another member of the committee, was enthusiastic last night in discussing the proposal that Senator Hanna be invited as the speaker of the day. "It would insure the most stupendous demonstration the old town has ever seen and at the same time it would do Mr. Hanna no harm," said he. "It would probably show him how popular he is with the people. He is now a champion of our movement to organize labor, and such a man coming from among the ranks of the important industrial interests of the country, would certainly help matters greatly to give Pittsburgh the greatest labor demonstration in her history."

Chief Marshal Alexander Hunter of the Labor Day demonstration said: "Senator Hanna is the man we should go after. Mr. Knox is another, if we could get him, but I believe that the senator is less engaged now, than the attorney-general."

Friends of William Dodds, secretary-treasurer of the Pittsburgh miners, and M. O'Sullivan, business agent of the sheet metal workers, two other members of the committee, say that they will work with the committee, to secure the coming of one of these men, so prominent in national affairs.

Would Be Great Card.

M. P. Carrick, formerly of Pittsburgh, now general secretary-treasurer of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers, said last night at the Hotel Griswold:

"I see by The Gazette this morning that the Labor Day committee is planning to have Senator M. A. Hanna and Attorney-General P. C. Knox or one or the other to be present. The committee should lose no time to send a committee to see both of these men. Either would insure a complete success for the day. They are the kind of men that people would come from many miles away to hear. Committees should be appointed to visit these men at once, for the time is getting short."

It was Carrick, when he still had headquarters in Pittsburgh, last year, who made the demonstration the greatest success in the history of labor celebrations in Pittsburgh. He was secretary and the most active promoter for that event.

Additional Arrangements.

Miscellaneous trades which will form the third division of the Labor Day parade met yesterday at Painter's hall, No. 416 Wood street, and perfected their organization for the day. Thirty-nine of these trades were represented, some of the delegates at the meeting representing at high as nine locals in one trade, and it is predicted that the division will march 12,000 strong. The meeting organized by electing Master Workman John Fernau of the Pittsburgh district assembly of the Knights of Labor chairman and J. F. Smith and W. Coremakers secretary. Mitton Chaplin of the horseshoers was elected division marshal; J. J. Smith of the coremakers, adjutant, and C. E. Ainsworth of the sales people, chief of staff.

By the casting of lots the trades were placed to form the division in the following order: Team drivers, press feeders and helpers, pressmen, brass molders, carpet-layers, pavers and rammers, brewery workers, chain makers, railway conductors, boilermakers, ice drivers, railway firemen, machinists, blacksmiths, broom makers, typographical union, No. 7; teamsters' assembly, No. 1577, of the Knights of Labor; tight-work coopers, theatrical mechanics, horseshoers, salespeople, cigar and stogie makers, stereotypers, metal polishers and brass workers, corgmakers, coopers' assembly, No. 1802, of the Knights of Labor, composed of the slack work coopers; locomotive engineers, beer drivers, stationary engineers, butchers, Amalgamated Society of Engineers, bakers and tailors.

To Street Car Men.

Pittsburgh officials of the miners have invited the street railway employes to take a place with them in the first division instead of that of the miscellaneous trades, in which they properly belong. This is because many of the traction men must be all at work at 12:30 or 1 o'clock in the afternoon, and the street car men by moving in the first division can leave the parade much earlier than if they were in the fourth division.

Every union organization in the Pittsburgh district that has decided to enter the demonstration, and this is practically all, will impose a fine of a day's pay under the double-time rule for a holiday, and the price of the prescribed uniform against all members who fail to turn out in the parade.

Secretary John Fernau last night mailed to secretaries of all local organizations a request that they name two aids to the marshals of the day, one to the chief marshal and one to the division marshal in which the organization belongs. This will mean that 200 men will be on horseback as aids to Chief Marshal Alexander Hunter, and a like number scattered as aids to the four division marshals. The distribution of the official souvenir badges will begin August 23.

MINER TELLS OF A RECENT STRIKE

WORKER IN ALLEGHENY VALLEY FIELD TALKS ON "SETTLEMENT"

Asserts That Men Were Promised $1 Per Day, While Out and Got Nothing. Went Back to Work Without Any "Settlement."

A miner of Leechburg, Pa., signing himself Alexander Beer, in a letter to The Gazette, takes exception to reports in relation to settlement of the Allegheny valley strike. He says in part:

"Within the last few days I have read in nearly all of the Pittsburgh papers of a settlement being made between the coal operators in this vicinity and the officials of the United Mine Workers' organization of Pittsburgh, and I think, in justice to all concerned, a few remarks by an interested miner might be interesting to all of the craft.

"We mine in this vicinity the seam of coal known as the upper Freeport. We are paid 75 cents a net ton for rail coal passing over a one-inch screen having a superficial area of 48 to 50 square feet. We make good wages, generally speaking, and much better, I think, than some of the miners in other districts.

"We had been tormented for upward of a year by organizers, interpreters and other persons not familiar with conditions here, until finally we were blindly led into a strike on April 16, 1902, and that on a promise of receiving $1 a day for every day we remained on strike.

"We struck and continued to strike, and I must confess it did not seem to annoy some of the operators at all. Finally, after a period of about six weeks, some of the miners saw their mistake, and not receiving anything to support them, in shape of money or provisions, returned to work and notified some of the operators that if they recognize the so-called organization they would leave.

"Shortly after this time other mines began to resume. Then the Pittsburgh district officials had a brass band come here to annoy us. It did not do any good. Then they got two brass bands and that did them no good, until finally when they saw it would do no good, and receiving no encouragement from the miners here, they quietly left.

"Speaking of settlement, there was no settlement, as the miners all returned to work for the same wage and under the same conditions as existed before we were led into the strike. The operators did not, and, I am told, will not recognize any union. We have lost about $100,000 in wages, and I suppose the operators' loss was a nice sum, too, but I do not know what it amounted to."

HOPETOUN RECALLED.

Australia's Former Governor-General Did Not Resign as Was Generally Reported.

MONTREAL, Aug. 17.—Lord Hopetoun, former governor-general of the commonwealth of Australia, after spending Sunday in Montreal, left tonight for New York, where he will sail on the Teutonic on Wednesday for home.

Lord Hopetoun, speaking of the reports regarding his resignation, said:

"I did not resign, as has been stated in the newspapers. I was recalled by the imperial government and I am now returning home."

His lordship would not discuss the reasons leading to his recall. He is accompanied by his sid, Col. Corbett, who declared that the salary allowed the governor-general was too small and the situation became so unpleasant that the recall became necessary.

Westinghouses at Lenox.

LENOX, MASS., Aug. 17.—(Special.)—Mr. and Mrs. George Westinghouse will arrive at Erskine park on Wednesday with a party of London friends. They will remain at the park until after the horse show in September, and it is expected they will entertain extensively while here.

Preferred Death to Poverty.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 17.—Mrs. Isaac Rosenbaum committed suicide by drinking carbolic acid today. Before the death of her husband two years ago Mrs. Rosenbaum lived in luxury, but her small legacy was soon exhausted and of late she has kept a lodging house. Her dread of poverty led her to remark recently that she would not face it. She was 40 years old and had relatives in Cincinnati.

OFFICER KILLED AT DONORA PICNIC

CLARENCE L. EATON SHOT TO DEATH THOMAS DEHANNA.

Tried to Act as Peacemaker to Quell a Fight When Fatal Shot Was Fired. Crowd Threatens to Lynch Prisoner on His Way to Jail.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Aug. 17.—Clarence L. Eaton, a policeman, was shot and killed at Donora, this county, about 11 o'clock last night, and Thomas Dehanna, who did the shooting, was brought to jail here this evening to answer to the charge of murder.

A big German picnic was held at Hazlett's grove, half a mile out of Donora, yesterday afternoon and last evening. Late in the evening Joseph Dehanna got into a fight with one of his companions, and Thomas Dehanna, a brother, seeing the trouble, rushed in to help his brother out. He at once drew a gun and threatened to shoot if the trouble kept up. Eaton was at the picnic in citizen's clothes, but heard of the fight and rushed in to separate the combatants. Without waiting for any explanation Thomas Dehanna pointed his revolver at Eaton's breast and fired.

Eaton threw up his hands and moaned: "Good God, must I die now," and fell to the floor. When he was picked up he was dead.

Officer John Somerville of Donora and George Huffman seized Dehanna, and Constable Woorsell arrested him and locked him up. Excitement ran at a high pitch and a crowd of more than 500 followed the officer to the jail, where threats to lynch Dehanna were freely made, but the man was finally placed in the lockup without any demonstration.

The dead officer was carried to his home, where he has a wife and one child. He was 28 years of age and Dehanna is 24. The coroner viewed the body today and the inquest will be held on Wednesday. The murderer is a well-known man and lived at the home of his father, John Dehanna, at West Columbia, near here. He has nothing to say about the shooting, and it is claimed by many that both the Dehanna men were intoxicated when the trouble arose.

MULE AND CART GONE.

Newspaper Carrier Had It Stolen Yesterday Morning.

John Orr of No. 19 Kearsarge street, Mt. Washington, a carrier for The Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph, is looking for a mule and cart that he left standing at Smithfield and Diamond streets early yesterday morning while he went for his Sunday papers at the local newspaper offices. The mule, Mr. Orr says, can easily be identified, as it is almost pure white, and there is probably not another mule like it in Pittsburgh.

Mr. Orr stated last night that he had only left the rig for a few minutes to get his papers and when he returned he discovered the mule and cart gone. Several men who were in the vicinity at the time said a young white man who wore a straw hat drove the rig down Fifth avenue. Mr. Orr said yesterday he searched Pittsburgh and Allegheny for the rig, but was unable to locate it. The mule and cart was hired by Mr. Orr from Charles Slik of Joel street, Mt. Washington. Since the rig disappeared, Mr. Orr says, he has had to hire another wagon and horse to carry his papers to Mt. Washington.

CHINESE TRADE DOOR IS OPENED TO AMERICANS

Sharretts Cables State Department That Tariff Treaty Is Signed.

LIKIN TAX IS ABOLISHED

Most Burdensome Exaction in Ancient Chinese System of Duties, Mainly Levied by Dishonest Officials for Personal Enrichment.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17.—The state department has received a dispatch from T. S. Sharretts, the treasury expert who was commissioned by the state department to negotiate a tariff treaty between the United States and China, saying that the treaty was signed on August 15, and that he would sail for the United States on the first steamer.

The announcement contained in Mr. Sharretts' brief dispatch to the state department brings to a successful conclusion negotiations which have been in progress for many months. It was stipulated as one of the features of the peace agreement between China and the foreign powers at the close of the Boxer outbreak that an entirely new fabric to trade treaties should be made. This carried out the purpose Secretary Hay had maintained throughout the preceding negotiations for an "open door," the desire being to open up foreign communication with the interior of China, and thus gain access to the various markets of the empire.

Right Man for Place.

At the conclusion of the peace arrangements, Mr. Sharretts was selected to carry on tariff negotiations in behalf of the United States. This selection was due to his long familiarity with tariff affairs, as he assisted in the framing of recent tariff legislation before congress, and also served as one of the general appraisers of New York. He went to China about a year ago, and has since been engaged in working out the details of a tariff agreement.

It was announced about a month ago that the British commissioners had concluded a tariff treaty with China and it was understood at that time that the British treaty would serve as a basis for similar treaties with the United States and other foreign countries.

The state department was advised at the time that the rates on imports entering China were 12½ per cent and the export duties 7½ per cent. One of the most important provisions of the British-China treaty was that abolishing the likin tax. It is presumed that similar rates are made in the American treaty, and that the likin tax is abolished as far as it relates to American goods in transit.

Robbery More Than Tax.

The likin tax has been one of the most burdensome exactions of the antiquated Chinese system, as it was levied by the officials at various points through the interior without uniformity, and often with less regard for commercial ends than for the enrichment of the unscrupulous local officials.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—In a dispatch from Shanghai the correspondent of the Times says the protocol of the tariff treaty was signed Saturday by the British, American, German and Japanese representatives without reservation and by the Austrian, Belgian and Dutch representatives ad referendum.

The Chinese commissioners, lacking imperial sanction, did not sign the protocol; therefore, if China modifies it, the signatures affixed yesterday will be void. The document provides that the new tariff becomes operative November 1.

Portugal complicates the situation by claiming a concession of two small islands near Macao and the right to build a railroad from Macao to Canton as a quid pro quo for her acceptance of the new tariff. This incident, says the representative of the Times in conclusion, illustrates the difficulty underlying this whole question.

THIRTEEN MEN WILL BE TRIED BY POLICE BOARD

Eleven Bluecoats in Addition to Whitehouse and McElroy.

FORCE IS DEMORALIZED

Men Who Followed Custom of Arresting and Not Appearing Against Prisoner on the List—High Officials Need Them for Scapegoats.

The general demoralization of the police force seems to be continuing rather than decreasing. This is demonstrated fully by the fact that 11 of the city's bluecoats have been summoned to appear before the police board on 15 different charges. When that police judiciary convenes this morning these officers will be arraigned before it on counts of conduct unbecoming an officer, neglect of duty, drunkenness, absence and failing to appear at hearings against the unfortunate persons whom they unwarrantedly arrested.

It has been a long time since so many officers have been arraigned before the board. In addition to these officers the case of former Police Inspector Henry Whitehouse will be taken up and also the case of Detective William McElroy.

The following officers will be arraigned on the accompanying charges:

JOSEPH RUNINSKY, charged with failing to appear against his prisoners.
JOSEPH SCHROLOVITZ, charged with absence from ranks without leave.
WILLIAM REYNOLDS, two charges of conduct unbecoming an officer.
ROBERT RILEY, charged with neglect of duty.
JOHN DOYLE, charged with conduct unbecoming an officer.
WILLIAM MCLINTOCK, one charge of conduct unbecoming an officer and another of drunkenness.
PATRICK MANGAN, charged with conduct unbecoming an officer and drunkenness.
EDWARD MALLON, charged with conduct unbecoming an officer and drunkenness.
P. G. BAILEY, two charges of drunkenness.
JOHN TOBIN, charged with drunkenness.
CHARLES FRITZ, charged with conduct unbecoming an officer.
THOMAS ANDERSON, charged with not appearing against his prisoners.

The case of former Inspector Henry Whitehouse will be placed before the judiciary and he will be promptly discharged for disobeying the orders of Director A. H. Leslie in not accepting the position as captain in No. 5 district.

The case of Detective William McElroy will be acted on by the board and it will ask Detective William McElroy to explain how he permitted J. H. Slaco to escape from him at Canton, while he was bringing him to this city.

It is very evident that the cases will be pushed to their utmost by the board, as the officials of the department desire to exempt themselves from any criticism or censure in the matter. The officers are not so much to blame as the police officials, who have placed them on the force.

From a well-informed exponent of the police business it was learned yesterday that the policemen in Pittsburgh are the most incompetent in any municipality in the country. Their actions of the last week certainly confirm this. Officers Mangan and Mallon, while in an intoxicated condition, arrested two small news boys at Fourth avenue and Smithfield street on Thursday afternoon and created so much excitement in doing so that a collision took place between two street cars and the patrol wagon and endangered the lives of a dozen persons.

Policeman Samuel Schrolovitz assaulted Thomas Cramer on Thursday night and unwarrantedly placed him under arrest. Cramer was talking to some friends and the officer accosted him and ordered him away. Cramer refused to go, as he was not disorderly and Officer Schrolovitz struck him over the head with his mace.

CHAUTAUQUA.

Dr. Aked of England Preaches on the Reformation of the World.

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., Aug. 17.—(Special.)—The last Sunday but one of the Chautauqua session finds the assembly grounds crowded and the exercises of the day largely attended. The morning sermon was preached by Dr. Aked of Liverpool, England, who is considered one of the finest speakers and leading non-conformist divines in England. He took for his text, "Wherefore, O, King Agrippa, I was not disobedient to the heavenly vision," and said in part:

"Martin Luther was not disobedient to the heavenly vision, nor was Thomas Clarkson, nor Neal Dow, nor any other great heroic spirit that has made us what we are. Had these men refused to be disobedient to this vision, there would have been no religious liberty, no emancipation proclamation, nor prohibition, nor local option. Materialism is the greatest sin of the age. We are taught to believe that nations will be great by the army it supports, by its ships and commerce; we are taught to believe in big money, in big battalions, in big everything except the hosts of God that surround us. Believe in things unseen, in God, in love and heaven. These are realities. Take life on the spiritual side, the ideal and heroic side. Then will each man be a world in himself, a world of possibilities.

"We are put here for a purpose, we are a part in God's great plan. The heavenly vision means for you to take part in moral causes, in moral movements. Believe that there is a just ruler and gladness for the upright. Believe every winter will change to spring, and that love will conquer. Join in a moral movement. Identify yourself actively with some righteous, but unpopular cause, and take your part in the world's great task of uplifting and bettering humanity, then can you say with Paul, 'I was not disobedient to the heavenly vision.'"

Healthy South Side.

It is very comforting for South Siders to be assured that there are only half as many cases of typhoid fever in proportion to the population in South Side wards as in the rest of the city.

It is no wonder that officials of the Monongahela Water Company are proud of the report made by a committee of the chamber of commerce setting forth the above fact for the first five months of this year.

It is no wonder that the good people of the South Side are paying their bills for water rent earlier than usual this year. It is a very decided way of showing their appreciation both of the quantity and quality of water furnished by this company under a pressure varying from 100 pounds in many districts, down to 50 pounds in other sections, without interruption so far this summer.

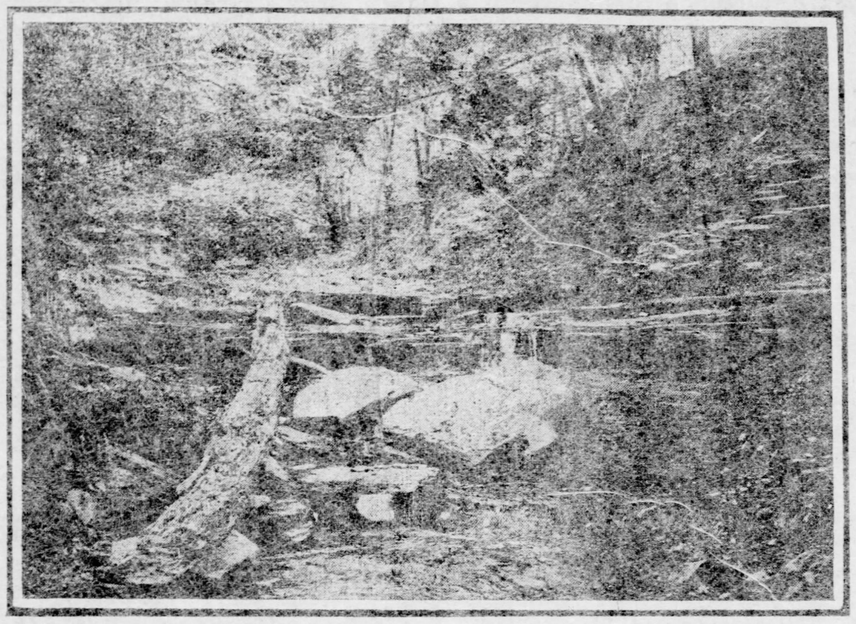
ONE OF THE PICTURESQUE SPOTS IN CAMP MEETING GROUNDS AT TARENTUM.



This cut is from a photograph of one of the picturesque nooks in the Tarentum camp meeting grounds near Tarentum. The annual camp meeting is now going on there, and will continue until next Sunday, inclusive. The meeting has been unusually well attended and an especially elaborate program of religious services and preaching prepared for yesterday attracted one of the largest crowds ever seen on the grounds. At 9 o'clock in the morning there was a general class meeting. At 10:30 o'clock the Rev. J. B. Starkey, D. D., of Pittsburgh, preached and at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon a scholarly discourse was delivered by the Rev. Oliver H. P. Graham, of Sharpsburg. An intersting Epworth League service was conducted under the leadership of the Natrona league and later in the evening the Rev. G. W. Grannis, D. D., of Venetia, preached to a large congregation.

LONG WAY AROUND TO ATLANTIC CITY

ARTHUR L. BANKER AND WIFE ARRIVE IN AUTOMOBILE.

Chief of Weather Bureau Visits Coast to Allay Fear of Tidal Wave—Young Woman Wins Medal—New Arrival Record.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 17.—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Banker, who left Pittsburgh in their automobile early in July, arrived here this evening. They traveled first to Detroit, and crossing into Canada, visited all the towns on the Canadian side of Lake Ontario. They next went to the Mukoka district, and from there to Montreal, arriving in that city last Sunday. Leaving Montreal last Tuesday they recrossed the border at Rouse's Point, N. Y., followed the West Shore of Lake Champlain, and passed through Saratoga, Albany and New York, leaving the latter city this morning. Mr. and Mrs. Banker will start on their return trip to Pittsburgh tomorrow evening.

Moore Strikes at Folly.

Willis L. Moore, chief of the United States weather bureau, is here for the avowed purpose of quieting fears aroused by an alleged prediction that a tidal wave will strike Atlantic City tomorrow. Those who have the scare now fear that it will arrive tomorrow, although several dates for its appearance have been fixed and passed without the slightest disturbance. When questioned today concerning his opinion of the story, Chief Moore said:

"All this scare about a tidal wave striking Atlantic City is folly. There is positively not the slightest danger of such trouble. The only indication was the storm that blew around North Carolina, but it has passed out to sea. This storm had no relation to the one in Mexico, where a town is reported to have been wiped out by a tidal wave. I came here to show that I did not place any credance in the tidal wave scare, and to reassure public opinion on that point. I have received hundreds of letters asking if a tidal wave was due for Atlantic City. There may be storms that occur every summer, but there will be no tidal wave."

Mr. Moore is accompanied by his wife, Miss Flora Wilson and Jasper Wilson, daughter and son of Secretary of Agriculture Wilson.

Young Woman Life Saver.

Harry Hearne, a 9-year-old visitor from Knoxville, Tenn., was saved from death in the surf today by Miss Louise M. Steifel, a young woman residing in Philadelphia. The boy and several companions found a plank which had been washed ashore, and young Hearne clambered upon it and was floating around. A high breaker swept him off and he disappeared. Miss Steifel was the only adult bather in the vicinity, and, hearing screams for help, she rushed out through the surf, brought the boy to the surface, and after hard work got him ashore.

New Arrival Record.

According to reports from the railroad companies more than 60,000 persons were brought here Saturday and today, establishing a new record. It is estimated that fully 10,000 more people were here than there were a week ago, although the crush did not seem so great, owing to the efforts made to prevent a repetition of the jam of last Sunday, when hundreds were unable to find accommodations.

At the Seaside Hotels.

The late arrivals at the hotels include the following from Pittsburgh and vicinity:

Brevoort—Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Harington, Pittsburgh; Miss Jennie Surriff, Allegheny.

Holly Inn—Mrs. G. W. Spald, John M. Fuley, E. R. Sulzer, Mrs. J. H. Anshutz, Pittsburgh.

AUTOMOBILE VICTIM IS FAST RECOVERING

John L. French.

John L. French, the young St. Louis automobile agent, who was hurt in an automobile accident in the Soho district on August 12, is progressing favorably at the Hotel Dorset, in the East End. No bones were broken, but French was so painfully bruised that it was only yesterday he was able to get up and go about a little in his room. His father, Jesse French, a St. Louis business man, is with him. His father-in-law came through Pittsburgh on his way to St. Louis from the east, and it is supposed that when he arrives in St. Louis he will be able to convince his daughter, the wounded man's wife, that French was not as badly hurt as she feared.

COUGHED UP A BULLET.

Steubenville Negro Rids Himself of a Missile He Carried Eight Years.

STEUBENVILLE, O., Aug. 17.—(Special.)—Tom Ferris, colored, of this city has just passed through a strange experience. Eight years ago he was shot in the neck, and the ball lodged in his left lung, and could not be extracted. A year ago a cough developed and it was thought that he was going into consumption.

Today he was seized with a violent spell of coughing, lasting an hour. Friends raised him in bed, thinking his end was near, when he coughed up a 38-caliber bullet.

A groove in the bullet tore the lung and his throat, but it is believed now that he will recover.

ARE CLAMORING TO BE ANNEXED

STERRETT TOWNSHIP CITIZENS WILL PETITION TO COUNCILS.

Want to Be a Part of Greater Pittsburg and Have Convenient Schools and Police and Fire Protection—Wilkinsburg Also Getting Ripe.

Sterrett township is the latest suburb to knock at Father Pitt's door for admission to the city. It is said that the residents of the township will within a few weeks petition Pittsburgh councils to annex the township, and with this end in view, a petition has been put into circulation, which during the past few days has been signed, it is said, by a majority of the residents in the neighborhood of Frankstown avenue.

The township has an area of about 300 acres and is thickly settled. The section, in which the petition was started, contains about 12,000 residents, and these want their section to be annexed to the city, as it is their desire to have the benefit of city improvements, and also to reap the large benefits which will result from the joining of the many suburbs in the Greater Pittsburgh scheme.

It is said that the primary reason for the township residents asking for admission to the city is that their children will have the benefit of the public schools. As the township, if admitted to the city, will also have fire and police protection, the residents will have the benefit of many privileges, which they do not have at present. The agitation for annexation is growing rapidly in Sterrett, since the petition was put out, and it is probable that almost all the property owners will have signed it, by the time it is ready for presentation to councils.

The residents of the township say that the township school is located at the far end of the township, too far for the children to walk from the Frankstown section. Some of the children for some time past have been attending school in Pittsburgh and in Wilkinsburg, and as their parents are obliged to pay for the tuition of the children at these schools, it is argued that the privileges can be secured to better advantage to the residents, if the township is a part of the city.

Wilkinsburg is also rapidly growing in population and extending its limits, until now there are but few vacant places left for building purposes, within the borough. Those, who are moving into the borough, and others who wish to build homes, are obliged to secure property and build almost on the outskirts of the borough, or even outside its limits. In this way several large settlements have sprung up and the residents have started to clamor for annexation.

J. J. HILL PLANNING MONSTER STEEL PLANT

Purchases Interest in Conrad Iron Mines and Has Secured Number of Other Deposits.

GREAT FALLS, MONT., Aug. 17.—President J. J. Hill of the Great Northern Railroad Company will erect a monster steel and iron plant, for which plans have been drawn, according to information from those close in touch with the railway magnates. It is reported that Mr. Hill purchased last week a half interest in the Conrad iron mines of Choteau county for $25,000. W. G. Conrad, owner of the mines, has confirmed the report of the sale to Hill.

One factor which has been lacking in the reduction of the ore metal has been manganese, which mineral is necessary as a flux in the smelting of ore. To overcome these difficulties President Hill and United States Senator Paris Gibson have purchased the recently discovered deposits of manganese in Jefferson county, on the line of the Great Northern.

Before leaving Great Falls, Mr. Hill said he would establish an industry in Great Falls that would employ more men than a number of the railroads.

All along the line of the Great Northern system Mr. Hill has been acquiring iron deposits, paying for one group near the Spokane & Northern line $60,000.

"MERRY BUGHOUSE" BRINGS A LITTLE ACTION INTO CENTRAL STATION STABLES.

"Merry Bughouse" made things lively at Central police station yesterday afternoon. "Merry" was discovered camping upon a large grip on the curbstone in Penn avenue and entertaining the neighborhood by the exhibition of a well-developed jag. She was going to Atlantic City, she said, and invited the entire neighborhood to accompany her. Policeman Mike Conley explained to "Merry" that he could not go to the city by the sea, but, ringing up the patrol wagon, invited her to take a drive with him.

"Merry," under the impression that it was an auto, accepted willingly, and kept expressing her appreciation of Mike's politeness all the way to the station house.

On alighting she looked at the horses for a moment in wonder and then, drawing her hat pin, plunged it deep into the flank of one of them, just to see if he was real. The resulting plunge carried away the harness, knocked over chairs and caused considerable excitement, but as no one had seen "Merry's" little dig Wagonman Patrick Kennedy attempted to find out what was the matter with that usually docile animal.

As he stooped the hat pin again came into action and Pat also plunged forward with a cry of pain. This time "Merry" was caught red-handed and disarmed.

As she refused to give her name and address she was entered on the docket as "Merry Bughouse, Atlantic City, N. J."

TIN SITUATION REVIEWED BY A NEW CASTLE MAN

General Manager Greer Tells What He Knows of the Long Fight.

LOSS WILL BE WORKERS'

Shows How British Manufacturers Have Used Every Means in Their Power to Ruin the Business and How Their Hand is Seen Now.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

New Castle, Pa., Aug. 17.—George Greer, general manager of the New Castle district mills of the American Tin Plate Company, issued a statement late this afternoon relative to the tin situation and the controversy over the proposition of the company for the workers to accept a 25 per cent cut in wages to permit the company to capture the Standard Oil Company's rebate order.

He refers to the following cablegram received in New Castle yesterday afternoon by a tin worker from John Hodge.

Men here protest against the contemptible meanness of the trust proposal on 25 per cent reduction to collar oil plate trade. Suppose we retaliate, where would a policy of this kind lead to or end? It simply means capital prostituting labor to its own ends, as it always does. Last month we had an advance equal to 5 per cent on this class of work.

Commenting on the above he says in part:

"I distinctly remember that a short time prior to the attempt of capitalists, manufacturers and workmen to manufacture tin plates in the United States, the foreign manufacturers were charging the consumers of tin plate in America as high as $15 50 per box 14x20, basis 112 sheets for standard coke plates.

No Protection Then.

"At that time there was practically no protective tariff on tin plate. The exorbitant prices that were charged by the foreign manufacturers induced capitalists and workmen to embark in the manufacture of tin plates in the United States. Immediately after the works were put in operation the foreign manufacturers sent agents into this country as 'spotters,' who traced and followed shipments of plates and continuously reduced their prices until they sold as low as $4 50 per box. The price at which they sold plates was so much below the cost at which the American manufacturers and workmen could produce them that they were compelled to close down their works.

"Then they doubled their prices, and continued to maintain the high and exorbitant prices until the McKinley tariff on tin plate took effect. As soon as the American capitalists, manufacturers and workmen had commenced to build mills and operate them to supply the home trade for tin plates in the United States, the foreign manufacturers not only reduced the selling price, but reduced their labor as well, hoping thereby to still retain the American trade and prevent, if possible, the successful establishing of the tin plate business in America.

Secured a Reduction.

"In addition they utilized the press and had the co-operation of a number of importers and jobbers who made it their business for months, and in fact did not discontinue the slandering and belittling of the attempt of the American capitalists and American workmen to manufacture tin plate in America; and finally, after the business had been successfully established, with the assistance of their Democratic friends, they did succeed in convincing enough congressmen, under the pretense that if the tariff was reduced they would furnish tin plate at lower prices, to reduce the tariff $1 per box, or $20 per net ton. As soon as the reduction was made they not only reduced the price the full $1 per box, but the first prices named after the tariff took effect by the foreign manufacturers was fully $1 50 per box, making a total reduction of $26 per ton, while the reduction of the tariff was but $20 per ton, which caused a temporary closing down of the American mills, and they continued to reduce the wages of their workmen and the selling price until tin plates reached the lowest price at which they had ever sold.

Tried to Ruin the Business.

"The reduction in price to points so far below the cost of manufacturing in this country was simply done with the view of ruining if possible the manufacturers and depriving the workmen of the high rate of wages they could earn in the various departments of the tin plate mills. If that was not the essence of business meanness and prostituting of labor boiled down I am very much mistaken.

"Please note that Mr. Hodge's cablegram states that less than one month ago the workmen had an advance equal to 5 per cent on the plates they furnished to America. It is quite evident that the Welsh manufacturers sell plates at a very considerable lower price to the American export trade than they do to other buyers and consumers, and the 5 per cent advance referred to 'on this class of work' means that the workmen have been given the enormous advance of a sum of less than 25 cents per turn, or day, to be divided between the hot mill workmen for one day's work.

"The impression in the cablegram referring to this class of work' must raise the suspicion in the mind of any careful reader that there may be a differential price on plates furnished in Great Britain for the export trade.

The Present Situation.

"Suppose for a moment we dismiss all sentiment, feeling and prejudices, and consider the facts and merits of the subject referred to, as applied to American workmen. First, two attempts have been made, one of which was successful in throwing the American workmen out of employment; second, while it did not permanently throw them out of employment it did cause a reduction in wages, and after the failure to ruin the American manufacturers and deprive the American workmen from the opportunity of earning good wages, the attempt is now made to appeal to the sentiment, prejudice and patriotism of the American workmen, with the hope that they will prefer to remain idle for a term of about two months during the year rather than secure business that really belongs to the American workmen and manufacturers, and at a price fully 100 per cent in advance over the wages the hot mill men receive in Great Britain for the same class of work, including the advance of 3 per cent referred to.

"In other words, the manufacturing of the 1,500,000 boxes of export, or rebate plates, based on 108-pound plate, the net wages to the Amalgamated workmen will amount to nearly $750,000, while the wages paid to the Great Britain workmen in the hot mills department would amount to less than $350,0000, or 100 per cent less than American workmen would receive for the same amount of work.

"In addition to earnings of the hot mills department, the amount that would be paid to workmen in other departments of the tin plate industry would amount to over $800,000, additional to the amount paid to the Amalgamated workmen, or a sum total of over $1,500,000. Applied to New Castle, if the business was divided equally between 250 mills, the New Castle workmen's share would be one-fifth of the entire amount, or over $300,000 net, after having deducted the rebate asked by the American Tin Plate Company on the business referred to."

STABBED IN DARK BY UNKNOWN HAND

Austrian Fatally Wounded in a Fight With His Countrymen Saturday Night in Lawrenceville.

Nek Sebacle, 23 years old, an Austrian, is lying in a critical condition at the West Penn hospital, with a knife wound in his abdomen, which he received in a mysterious manner on Saturday night, in a fight at Forty-second and Willow streets. The assailant is not known to the police and the victim is so ill that he is unable to give them any information about the cutting.

At 10 o'clock Saturday night he was walking in a small grocery store in Willow street near Forty-second, which is kept by Joseph Ruborr. He was with several companions and a dispute arose with a strange man, who was one of his countrymen. With his companions he started out of the store. They had hardly reached the pavement when they were attacked by several men.

In the melee he received the knife wound. He was taken to his boarding house at No. 4818 Harrison street, by his companions and a physician was summoned. The physician immediately ordered Sebacle to the hospital.

The police were nowhere to be found at the time of the fray and it was sometime before the news could be carried to them. Yesterday Capt. C. F. Ford arrested Joseph Ruborr, the grocerman, in front of whose store the fight occurred. It is alleged that he led the party, that attacked Sebacle, and struck him with his fist. He was locked up in No. 5 police station and last night he refused to give the police any information about the trouble.

MERE TRESPASSER KILLED BY OFFICER.

Coroner McGeary Looking for a Railroad Detective, Charged With Murder.

George Delasant, 18 years old, of No. 331 Ottoman street, Greensburg, died yesterday at the West Penn hospital from a bullet wound received on August 5 at the hands of a private detective, J. Matthias, of the Pennsylvania railroad. Coroner Jesse M. McGeary will issue a warrant for the arrest of Detective Matthias this morning and he will be committed to jail on the charge of murder.

Matthias arrested Delasant for trespassing in the railroad yards at Wall station. Delasant fought the officer and succeeded in breaking away from him. The detective called to him to surrender, but as Delasant kept on running he shot in the air to frighten him.

This did not seem to bluff Delasant and the detective shot a second time in the air. Delasant still ran on and the detective ran after him. When the detective fired the third shot he says he tripped, and while falling the revolver pointed downward and the bullet entered Delasant's groin. He fell in his tracks. Delasant was assisted to the station and brought to the West Penn hospital.

ONLY ONE WAY INTO PARK.

United Traction Company Must Get a Nickel for Car Ride First.

The Pittsburgh Railways Company and the Homestead & Mifflin Street Railway Company connected up their tracks on Saturday, and the latter line began to run cars. Lots of persons took advantage of the short cut across the hills to go to Calhoun park, but the Pittsburgh Railways attaches shut them out by closing the gate they went through.

A policeman was stationed at the closed gate to notify the persons who came over the Homestead & Mifflin line that they would have to take a United Traction car, to be permitted to get into the park.

STATE AND NEIGHBORHOOD.

MARIETTA, O.—Samuel King, an oil well pumper in the Macksburg field, was found dead in a pumping station at 10 o'clock Saturday night. His head was crushed in. He leaves a widow and four-year-old daughter. Foul play is suspected.

LANCASTER, PA.—The dead body of Galen Brown, aged 30 years, of Atglen, was found yesterday morning on the Pennsylvania railroad tracks near that place. It is supposed that he was struck by a freight train.

SHARON, PA.—J. J. Reno of this city has been appointed assistant inspector-at-large of the G. A. R. and will make all appointments in Mercer county. The appointment was made by Alexander Nicholas of Philadelphia, state inspector. Mr. Reno enters upon his duties September 1.

PLATTSBURG, PA.—Joseph Wiltz, a Slav, aged 46 years, fell down stairs at his boarding house here Saturday night and died a few minutes later from a broken neck. He was employed by the Latrobe Coal and Coke Company and leaves a family in the old country.

Why Many People Buy Pianos At Hamilton's in Vacation Season.

Which shall it be? Take a vacation trip or buy a piano? A great many people have been deciding this important question lately. The special reductions in prices of pianos and other musical instruments at Hamilton's this week have had much to do with bringing the question up for decision. It is evident from our sales that in a very large number of instances the refined and lasting pleasures to be derived from having a piano in the home—pleasures which are shared by one's family and friends—outweighed the fleeting and somewhat uncertain satisfaction to be had from a vacation trip.

Just at this time, too, Hamilton's are offering a number of fine pianos at one-third and more below the regular prices. It is not at all suprising, therefore, that many people, who had thought of waiting a while longer, are taking advantage of the present exceptional opportunity and are buying their pianos now for considerably less money than they expected to have to pay. It is hardly necessary to add that these instruments are all of good, standard make and in every way worthy. The priceless reputation of this old reliable Music House, which, by the way, is much the largest in the State, is too jealously guarded to permit the sale of any unsatisfactory or undesirable instrument at any price whatsoever.

It is a source of genuine pride to this house that every year we sell scores of pianos by correspondence. And in spite of this fact we have never, in our 38 years in business, had one dissatisfied purchaser.

One of the happiest features of our recent clearance sale was the almost incredible number of people who ordered direct by mail, saying, "Mr. Hamilton, we feel we can fully trust your selection," etc., etc.; or, "We trusted you to select a piano for father years ago and never regretted having done so," etc.

We appreciate the confidence of such people too much to ever betray it. Indeed, if we err at all it is in sending even a better instrument than the one bargained for. It is thus we are pleased to honor the confidence of those who trust to us.

No matter whether you wish a moderate priced piano or the finest instrument that genius, money and skill can produce, you will find precisely what you want at Hamilton's, and in either case will be sure of getting full value for your money. It is probable, too, that among the wide range of special offerings you will find the very instrument you are looking for, and at a price much below the regular price. If you prefer, easy monthly payments will be arranged to suit your convenience.

Send for catalogue if you cannot come.

Travesty Upon Justice.

While the police bureau did take the hint to close the notorious resort where a felonious shooting was committed by a sanitary policeman, it has hardly improved its case. Having knowledge of the character of that place and others of the same ilk, it was the duty of the police, under the law, to make arrests and turn the offenders over to court. Instead they are given a courteous warning to close their places.

In the face of such conditions it is small wonder that citizens who have been guilty of nothing more serious than discourtesy to an officer on duty should protest against being put behind the bars. It is no wonder that others who have given no offense should feel that justice has grossly miscarried when they are subjected to the humiliation of arrest and the outrage of a fine, while speakeasy keepers are merely advised, in a friendly way, to stop their offending until the storm of public indignation blows over.

It is not surprising the organ of the machine finds cause for complaint. This sort of administration is a travesty upon justice.

Timely Suggestion.

A sensible suggestion is made by a Manila clergyman that when the Philippine hierarchy is reorganized 500 young native priests should be sent to the United States to be educated. The suggestion may well be amplified. Not only young men destined for the priesthood, but others who are to enter mercantile pursuits or enter the service of the government will be greatly benefited by an American education. Contact with the people of this country and our home institutions on the part of a considerable number of young men will Americanize the Philippines more rapidly than anything else. The regeneration of Japan that has astonished the western world began in that way. Doubtless the government will do what it may to encourage such a movement.

"Ten-Dollar Coal."

New York is paying $9 per ton for anthracite coal, with every prospect that the price will go to $10 and perhaps higher before winter sets in. This statement is made irrespective of what turn may be taken in the present strike in the Pennsylvania coal fields, for the reserve supply is said to be practically exhausted and the present prices will prevail at least through the fall and perhaps far into the winter. The enormous damage incurred by industrial and manufacturing interests through this condition of affairs will be almost incalculable, but even this prospect does not contain the worst and most appalling consequences of the situation. While coal may go to $10 per ton in bulk, that price will not represent what the people who buy coal in small quantities will have to pay. Coal peddlers who sell by the bushel and even smaller quantities have, it is said, been forced to put a price on their stock that is practically prohibitive among the poor people who buy coal as they may have the small price that has been formerly demanded for bucket and bushel quantities. With winter coming on and coal prices going up at the rate of a dollar a ton, the small purchaser being squeezed out entirely, it is not any wonder that New York is shivering apprehensively. Bituminous coal will not meet the emergency, altogether and its use entails loss in a number of directions, besides a sacrifice of the grounded opposition to the smoke and soot that all easterners feel.

These conditions are increasingly deplorable when it is remembered that coal enough is stored in mines of Pennsylvania alone to meet all the needs for both industrial and domestic purposes which under normal conditions might be profitably mined and sold to the consumer at a rate considerably less than one-half that now demanded by reason of the strike. When properly located the folly of the present clash between the anthracite mine operators and their employes will amount to a burden too great for either side to carry and retain the sympathy of the American people.

Bryan in It for Life.

The Democratic party's efforts to lose Bryan, and, by refraining from mention of Bryan and Bryanism in party platforms, to induce the people to forget both, are nullified from time to time by reappearances of the paramounter of the heaven-born ratio, to announce that he is at the old stand and that, if not doing business with his old-time enthusiasm, he may be counted on not to tire. The Democracy, it appears, can't lose William by ignoring him. The only way it can get rid of him is by throwing him out. But it doesn't dare to do that, owing to the friends he has left, who, if they can't get him mentioned in the platforms, must still be reckoned with.

Mr. Bryan's latest is a letter to a New Orleans paper in which, while he says he has "no plans looking to a renomination at any future time," he declares: "If I am ever a candidate again it will be because I am convinced that I can in that way give more effective aid to the cause in which I am enlisted for life."

The Democratic party is thereby sufficiently warned. Mr. Bryan is "enlisted for life," and his cause is the cause of the Democratic party unless it rises superior to the fate he has marked out for it and ends the partnership by a vigorous application of the boot.

Return of the Teachers.

After a voyage replete with interest and instruction from beginning to end, the Western Pennsylvania school teachers who went to Europe as the guests of The Gazette and The Chronicle Telegraph reached New York yesterday on the Anchor line steamer Columbia, glad to see again their native land and delighted with their experience. The health of the party has been exceptionally good during the more than six weeks and the tour has been unique in the total absence of annoying delays or unexpected departures from the original plans, as outlined previous to leaving New York. The Gazette congratulates the returning voyagers upon the success of their outing, upon the advantages and experiences derived and upon the fact that they will return to their school duties doubly equipped both in bodily health and in vivid understanding of Old World geography and life.

The Opposition to Quigg.

There is a somewhat heated discussion in the New York papers just now over the alleged determination of Senator Platt to have former Congressman Lemuel E. Quigg named for temporary chairman of the Republican state convention. Entirely aside from the merits or demerits of Mr. Quigg, it is somewhat amusing to note some of the reasons urged against his selection. "A member of the anti-Quigg faction" is, for example, quoted by the Commercial Advertiser as saying:

> Not only local leaders but up-state Republicans as well feel that to allow Mr. Quigg to open our convention would "queer" it badly. You knew what Hill and the rest will howl if the Republican machine and you must know they will howl in lower if Quigg is identified with the start of the campaign.

While Mr. Quigg may not be acceptable to all Republicans, something stronger ought to be urged against him than the vocal discords of "Hill and the rest" to justify the effort to shift him to a side track. The things that stir up the Democratic tower of Babel should not, as a rule, operate to frighten the Republican locomotive. "The Republican machine" can't please the professional Democrats, no matter what it does.

Color and the Law.

The commissioner of internal revenue has decided that palm oil, a natural product, when used in the composition of oleomargarine, is an adulterant intended to give an artificial color. The law provides that oleomargarine artificially colored to resemble butter shall pay a tax of ten cents a pound. The commissioner in rendering his decision says:

> This office rules that where so minute and infinitesimal quantity of a vegetable oil is used in the manufacture of oleomargarine as is proposed to be used of palm oil, and through its use the finished product looks like butter of any shade of yellow, it cannot be considered that the oil is used with the purpose or intention of being a bona fide constituent part or element of the product, but is solely used for the purpose of producing or imparting a yellow color to the oleomargarine; and therefore that the oleomargarine so colored is not free from artificial coloration and becomes subject to the tax of 10 cents per pound.

It is the "minute and infinitesimal quantity" that weighs heavily against the makers of oleo, only about five pounds in 1,200, or three-tenths of one per cent of the oil, being used to give the oleo a butter appearance. Ordinarily palm oil would not be considered an artificial coloring matter, and as it is a natural vegetable oil its use in the manufacture of other oils and fats into oleo is not out of place. It is harmless and even wholesome. From its nature, were it used in larger proportions, it is doubtful whether even a revenue official could feel justified in construing it to bring upon the manufacturer the ten cents per pound penalty, even though it produced the yellow color. But the "minute and infinitesimal quantity" establishes the purpose of the use of palm oil, leaving it with the maker to invite proceedings in the courts.

The proper purpose of a law regulating sales of imitation products is to insure that they shall be offered as imitation and not as genuine. The anti-oleo law goes much farther than this and forbids oleo to look like butter, even if sold as oleo. The statute by imposing a tax of ten cents per pound on yellow oleo, even when made yellow by the admixture of yellow oil, absurdly fetters trade in a wholesome product. But as it is the law there is no course left for those charged with the administration of the law but to enforce it, until the courts decide that it isn't an offense to mix with other oils and fats an' oil that will yellow the whole.

The Auto and the Automobilist.

In connection with the reported purchase of $1,000,000 worth of automobiles in France for importation to the United States, the New York Commercial Advertiser, dwelling on the tribute it is to the pre-eminence of French inventors and manufacturers, says:

> In France there is a rigid system of licensing and inspection which has very largely reduced the liability to accident, and not only the excellence of the automobiles, but the training of chauffeurs and the condition of the roads in that country constitute an all-round example of efficient progress in the development of this class of vehicle.

Yet it was in France, while touring in a French-made automobile under the rigid system of licensing and inspection; where the training of the chauffeurs and the condition of the roads furnish an all-round example, that last week occurred an automobile accident which suddenly extinguished two lives and gave a sensation to the people and newspapers of the United States. After all the perfections are provided by human ingenuity there remains the human equation to reduce the best to the level of common things. A worse accident might have happened, but has not, in the United States with its advertised imperfections in the matter of automobiles and roads. The problem of the moment is the automobilist—the man who owns the machine, such as it may be, and who runs it on roads good or bad, at such speed as suits him.

Society in a Flutter.

American social life that finds its center at Newport and among the fashionable summer resorts adjacent thereto at this season of the year is vastly agitated over the approaching visit of the young duchess of Marlborough, who is making her first visit home since her marriage. The most elaborate functions are being arranged by social leaders who count themselves in the same class with the titled young American woman. There is, however, one discordant note in the joyous expectancy that pervades Newport society. The duke of Marlborough will not accompany his wife upon her visits to the land of her birth. To give piquancy to the disappointment it is given out that the absence of the ducal husband is because of a vow on his part that he would never again visit America.

The young duchess of Marlborough has, on the whole, conducted herself with good sense and gracious bearing in her exalted position. She chose to invest her father's and grandfather's millions in a titled husband and seems to be satisfied with the investment. The duke's aversion to America should not be a subject for regret. He evidently feels he made a fortunate marriage financially and does not need further to bother himself about the land which furnished him the money to rehabilitate his decaying ancestral halls.

Criticising Palma.

Those Cuban newspapers that are urging all sorts of charges against President Palma doubtless reflect more the general spirit of unrest and impatience in the island than they state any actual ground for discontent with the present administration. Under the Cuban constitution the chief executive is not given the power to correct evils or accomplish great reforms unaided, and it must be remembered that even were this the case President Palma has hardly had time to demonstrate either one way or the other what he is capable of doing. The present criticisms are not unexpected, and would likely have been directed against the head of the government under any circumstances. They indicate one of the disagreeable prerogatives of people under a free government.

Fortunately the people who for various reasons declare that they will never set foot on American soil again are the sort of people America can get along very well without.

Three speakeasies notified to close their doors! One might suppose a decent regard for the law would demand something more severe than polite requests for notorious lawbreakers.

Those people who think the railroads are forcing dangerous speed upon the public are respectfully referred to the evidence given by automobilists who are masters of their own speed.

Controller Larkin is worrying the machine politicians more than they care to admit.

A Society Excerpt.

From the Baltimore American.

The gift of the bride's father was simply stunning in its magnificence. Immediately after the ceremony a huge wagon backed up to the house and a ton of coal was dumped on the parlor floor, while a porterhouse steak was carefully carried in and given the place of honor among the other presents. In deep chagrin the father of the groom was seen to seize the certified check he had given the happy couple and tear it into fragments.

GOTHAM DOCKS CAN NOT GROW

Government Will Not Allow Shipping to Be Enlarged in New York Harbor.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Aug. 17, 1902.

The promptness with which the government has determined not to extend the pier headline in the North river means that New York's dock facilities must be improved in some other way, if at all. If the piers were allowed to reach 200 feet further into the river, as was asked, there would be many advantages to the city, with perhaps corresponding troubles for shipping using the channel. At all events, the war department sat down on the project. McDougall Hawkes, dock commissioner of New York, set forth his case with much ingenuity and force when he asked for the extension of the pier headline, declaring, among other things, that it would mean a saving of $5,000,000 to the city. But the war department said no, and evidently meant it. Commissioner Hawkes got back from Europe yesterday, and said he had not been officially informed that his plan was frowned down. From private sources, however, he had learned that the department would not consider it at all. The North river is a wide stream and, at first thought, it might be opined that the pushing of the piers 200 feet further from the shore would not do any particular harm. That the government cannot see it in that light is, most likely, because it is realized that if that were done it would be followed by further encroachments, which might in the end prove downright dangerous to craft. Again, it may be that such a radical change in the arrangement of the docks along the north front of Manhattan is not warranted by the conditions, since Commissioner Hawkes admitted yesterday that he was convinced the docking facilities of this city are superior to any of the ports of the old world. This is nothing particularly new. It has been allowed that New York has the finest harbor in the world, and it was assumed that her docking arrangements were equally good. That there is a great deal of crowding is evident, but it is a question whether the extension of the pier headline would relieve this state of things permanently. At all events, the whole question must be thrashed over again before the war department is likely to give it further consideration.

Will Play "The Gazette March."

One of the important numbers which will be played by John S. Duss and his band on "The Pittsburgh Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph Teachers European Excursion Night" at St. Nicholas Garden will be "The Pittsburgh Gazette March," a rattling good two-step which cannot fail to be popular. Mr. Duss is delighted with it, and says it will give him great personal pleasure to play it. The march is published by the Walrus Company of Pittsburgh.

Pleasing Compliment for Mr. Duss.

That Duss and his band is giving delight to Pittsburgh visitors to New York, as well as to residents of this city, is evidenced in many ways. The Rev. S. Edward Young, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church of Pittsburgh, writes thus to R. E. Johnston: "For 14 years I have watched, here in New York, or from a distance, matters musical in the metropolis, and I believe no leader has ever won so much admiration from the New York public in so brief a period as Duss has since May 12. He is playing to crowded houses and the best element of the city. Some of us have recognized in him for years past a most commanding musical genius and a unique and fascinating personality, but the truth is that Duss is greater today than ever, with a better balanced organization, and that zest which comes from a well-earned fame. Were I predicting, I would say that within a very few years he will be acknowledged as America's foremost musician. Besides all this, he is a gentleman in every good sense of that splendid title."

Spectacular and "Amoozin'."

Devery is referred to by many men of national prominence as "an amoozin' cuss." That seems to be the light in which "Big Bill" is generally regarded. He keeps on with his spectacular campaigning, and the chances are that he will gain the leadership of the Ninth district, if not of Tammany Hall. He smiles grimly when he hears the "amoozin' cuss" remark. Devery is a shrewd fellow, and he does not mind being referred to in that way, so long as he gains his point. He has done a great deal of good for the poor of his district, and they swear by him down in Eighth avenue. He is in the full tide of popular favor down there, and if he does not get what he wants politically, there is no gratitude in ward politics.

Mrs. Fair Never an Actress.

"If Mrs. C. L. Fair was an actress," as some of the papers say, "where did she act?" It was a prominent theatrical manager who said that to me this afternoon. He continued, somewhat petulantly: "It makes me tired to see how so many persons are said to be actresses, when there is nothing to show that they were ever members of our long-suffering profession. I have been in the business for many years, but I never heard of Maude Nelson, Maude Uhman, Maude Thomas or Maude Corrigan as an actress. By all those names was she known, it seems, but she must have had another name for the stage if ever she was an actress, which I do not believe. It is said that she kept a boarding house in San Francisco, and that it was in that boarding house she met Mr. Fair. But—actress? I don't believe it."

Former Pittsburgh Reporter Reforms.

Harvey Reese, whose youthful home was in Pittsburgh, but who has lived in New York for the last seven years, is about to hang out his shingle as a practicing physician in this city. For some time after coming here he was on the staff of one of the New York daily papers. Then he applied seriously to the study of medicine. He was graduated this year will open an office here as a regular physician.

Throws Gaff Into Tommy Atkins.

Another New York theater will open for the season tomorrow evening. It is the Fourteenth Street, the house where patriotic Irishmen are accustomed to gather to enjoy the herdics and sweet voice of Chauncey Olcott or Andrew Mack. There will be an Irish play there tomorrow, but the star will not be either Olcott or Mack, but Pittsburgh's own matinee favorite of a few years ago, J. Brandon Tynan. The young man has written a drama called "Robert Emmet." He will play that unfortunate patriot, and a good company will be in his support. As Mr. Tynan's father spent several years in prison on account of his devotion to the Irish cause, it is natural that the son should take the same view of England's rule. The new drama boils over with Celtic sentiment, and the hated red-coat gets the worst of it in every act. At the last Robert Emmet is in prison again, and there the author leaves him, a little discouraged, but still defiant. The piece is said to be splendidly mounted, and of course, the house is sold out for the first performance. Tammany will be there in force.

Cuts Out Lot of Noise.

The long-talked-of electric carriage call apparatus is being installed in the Metropolitan opera house. It is a system of incandescent lights on a blackboard, which form any number desired at the pressure of certain electric buttons. This number represents that of a carriage or cab, and is flashed out so that everyone in the street can see it. The object is to do away with shouting of numbers for carriages, which of late years has been more trying than of old, because a megaphone is used generally nowadays. The new electric light call has been tested, and it is expected that it will be used at all the fashionable theaters in New York if it works satisfactorily at the Metropolitan. The hubbub when the audiences are departing from half a dozen Broadway theaters within a block or two is something distracting. The electric call does not make any noise. That is one of its great advantages over the megaphoning human caller.

Sea Warmer Than the Air.

A man who was at Coney Island today said tonight that bathing in the sea there was a contradictory kind of experience. "For once," he said, "the water was warmer than the atmosphere. Going from the bath house to the water's edge one became chilled, so that the sight of the water made you shiver. Having got into a bathing costume you did not feel like hanging back at that stage of the proceedings, and in you plunged. Then came the surprise. The water was some eight or 10 degrees warmer than the air, and it was a comfort to get in. The only trouble was that, as soon as you came out of the water, you had to rush to your bath house and get dried off or you would be sure to catch cold. I hope I shall not get pneumonia from my bathing today. If I do I cannot blame the actual bathing." There were the usual thousands at Coney, Rockaway Brighton and other seashore resorts today. The cold August is hurting the business of cooling drinks and similar luxuries at the beaches, but the people that go say Coney Island was never pleasanter than it is this month. In spite of the average temperature of 60 degrees at the water's edge.

Musician That Must Be Seen.

Creatore continues to pack Paradise garden every night. Oscar Hammerstein engaged this electric band leader in Europe at a salary large enough to make other managers sniff contemptuously at Mr. Hammerstein's idea of musical values. But Oscar knew his business. He has proved that by his box office returns. Not to have seen Creatore leading his band is to have missed the sensational feature of New York's theatrical entertainments. He is a wonder. That seems to be the only way he can be described. His music is as remarkably good as his methods of conducting are original. A party of Pittsburghers went last night to the roof garden to see Creatore, and they insist that The Gazette shall express their delighted astonishment with his performance. It is possible to do this with good grace, for Creatore is assuredly a splendid thing to look at, as well as an accomplished musician. He will be in Pittsburgh soon, at the Exposition, and then Pittsburghers will have an opportunity to see that there is no exaggeration in the praise bestowed upon his work.

Rush of Buyers Begins.

So great is the rush of buyers for merchants in other cities that the New York hotels find it hard to accommodate them. The buyers' season has just begun. It will last until the end of next month, and in the two months during which the big trade lasts, it is estimated that 3,000 buyers are registered at the Merchants' association rooms, on an average. It is believed that number will be exceeded this year. Each buyer purchases about $10,000 worth of goods, taking one with another, so that, at that rate, $30,000,000 are left here by the 3,000 men. As a suggestion of the rush at this time it may be mentioned that 100 cots are used every night in a Broadway hotel in the wholesale district, and even with that, it is necessary to turn away would-be guests.

Many Changes in Pulpits.

While New York has many ministers who have held the same pulpits for a generation or more, there is plenty of variety in the churches to keep up the metropolitan reputation of everything in this city. Pastors in this age are not more inclined to keep in a rut than men in other professions. More changes in pastorates have occurred in New York in the past five years than in all the previous history of the city. It is not strange to find that a six-years-old directory gives the names of only two pastors in Methodist Episcopal churches who are now occupying their pulpits—the Rev. Dr. A. K. Sanford of the Peoples church, at the Five Points mission, and the Rev. Ernest L. Fox of the Eleventh street church—but it is rather surprising to discover that every Congregational pulpit of any importance has a different occupant; that the Presbyterian churches have changed more than half their pastors, and that leading churches in the Protestant Episcopal and Baptist denominations have lost their pastors by death or removal to an unusual degree during the past five years.

Building Trust in Hash.

"Hotels and boarding houses on Brooklyn Heights are to be placed in control of a $10,000,000 trust, which will attempt to stifle competition, after the manner of combinations," Louis J. Horowitz of the New Brooklyn Heights Improvement Company is the promoter. All the hotels and boarding houses in the district are to be acquired.

Had a Real Reason.

From Chums.

A man was traveling in a smoking compartment of a city train a little while back, and at a certain station a German entered the carriage and took his seat opposite him. When the train had started the foreigner, noticing the other's cigar, inquired if he could give him one.

The Englishman, astonished at the request, reluctantly pulled out his case, and saw with disgust the other select the best he could find, and take a match from his pocket and light it. After taking a few puffs with evident enjoyment, the German, beaming at his companion through his spectacles affably continued:

"I would not haf droubled you, but I had a match in mein boggit, und I did not know vat to do mit it."

Gen. Woodford's Tribute.

From the New York Evening Post.

While in Chicago the other day Gen. Stewart L. Woodford declined to discuss politics at length, but declared that he was in favor of the nomination of President Roosevelt in 1904. "Since I left for the orient last April," he said, "I have seen scarcely a single American newspaper, and I know little of the political situation. I know, enough, however, to convince me that Roosevelt has so far made an admirable chief executive. He is courageous, statesmanlike, and absolutely honest, and deserves in every way the enthusiastic indorsement of the Republican party at the next national convention."

COUSIN OF KING SEEKING DIVORCE

Royal Efforts to Reconcile the Young Hamiltons Avail Nothing.

By the MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

Despite all efforts on the part of the royal family of England to bring about a reconciliation between the young Hamiltons and to prevent their matrimonial troubles from being publicly aired in the divorce court, the matter has been brought officially before the presiding justice, Sir Francis Jeune, by an application on the part of Mrs. Hamilton for an order for restitution of conjugal rights which is the preliminary step to securing a judicial separation on the ground of abandonment and eventually a divorce.

Mrs. Hamilton, who is a very pretty and ultra-fashionable woman, is the daughter of Admiral Fitz-George, a grand-daughter, therefore, of the royal duke of Cambridge, and a great-great-grand-daughter of King George III. She is consequently a grand-niece of the late Queen Victoria, and a cousin of King Edward, who was present at her wedding, along with Queen Alexandra in 1897, and who made her a very handsome present on that occasion. Moreover, she is a god-daughter of Queen Olga of Greece, having been born, I believe, at Athens, at the time when her father was serving with a Mediterranean squadron. I remember that the queen of Greece was specially represented at the wedding and that she sent a very handsome gift.

In 1898 Mrs. Hamilton gave birth to a little boy and every one will recall the picture published in all the English papers and in many American ones, as well, entitled "Four Generations," showing the old duke of Cambridge, now considerably over 80, his son, Admiral Fitz-George, the latter's daughter, Mrs. Hamilton and Mrs. Hamilton's baby boy.

Hamilton Family Tree.

Charles Hamilton, the husband, against whom the suit is brought, is the eldest son and heir of Sir Edward Archibald Hamilton of the Mount Middlesex. These Hamiltons are an off-shoot of the duke of Abercorn's family. William Hamilton, brother of the sixth Lord Abercorn, married daughter of Sir Thomas Colepepper and was grand-father to Gen. Sir John Hamilton, who received a baronetcy in 1776 for his services in connection with the siege of Quebec.

A second baronetcy was conferred in 1815 on Sir John's second son, Admiral Hamilton, for his gallantry in cutting out the British war ship "Hermione" from under the batteries of Porto Cavallo, in South Africa.

From all I hear the trouble between the Hamiltons arises from monetary difficulties. Mrs. Hamilton has the reputation of being quite the reverse of thrifty and of resenting the endeavors made by her husband to check her expenditure. It was with the object of rendering herself independent of him that she started, some time ago, a manicure and beautifying establishment, just off Bond street in London, putting her name, or rather that of her husband, over the shop door. This was the straw that broke the camel's back and it was this, I understand, that was the real reason why young Hamilton left his wife.

It is doubtful whether any reconciliation will be effected, as the lady is far too head-strong and capricious to submit to any control on the part of her husband.

To those who may wonder how it is that Mrs. Hamilton's father, Admiral Fitz-George, has no nobiliary title being the son of a royal duke, I would recall the fact that the duke of Cambridge married ecclesiastically, but without the consent of the sovereign, an Irish actress of the name of Miss Fairbrother, while stationed at Dublin as a young officer. As the sanction of the monarch is necessary in the case of the marriages of members of the reigning house in order to endow these matrimonial alliances with legality, the union of the duke of Cambridge and of Miss Fairbrother was all right ecclesiastically, but invalid in the eyes of the law. Consequently she could never assume the title of duchess of Cambridge, but called herself Mrs. Fitz-George.

Senate to Try an Ox Case.

The Italian laws exempting members of the senate from the jurisdiction of the ordinary tribunal, and rendering them amenable only to the senate itself sitting as a high court of justice, requiring revision. The other day an ox belonging to Duke Galeazzo Massari escaped from its pasture and strayed along the railroad line from Farrare to Rimini. The police captured the animal and the local courts decreed a fine against the duke for negligence in allowing his ox to stray on the railroad line, thereby endangering traffic. But the lawyer of the duke carried the case to appeal and demanded a reversal of the judgment on the ground that the duke being a member of the senate, he was according to the terms of the national constitution, exempt from the jurisdiction of all tribunals save that of the senate sitting as a high court of justice. The court of appeal had no alternative but to agree to the contention, and the consequence is that there is a prospect of the upper chamber of the national legislature being convoked in session for a state trial of the duke, in consequence of the erratic conduct of his ox.

Unfortunately the laws which bring about such ridiculous conditions of things cannot be easily repealed, for as I have just pointed out, they constitute part and parcel of the constitution, which would have to be revised by a convention of both houses of parliament.

In England peers of the realm are exempt from the jurisdiction of the ordinary tribunals, but only in cases of felony. For any minor offenses they can be brought before the ordinary courts. Thus the earl of Egmont was brought before one of the London police courts and fined the other day for drunk and disorderly conduct. But when Earl Russell rendered himself technically guilty of bigamy, which is a felony, the entire house of lords had to be constituted into a high court of justice, under the presidency of a specially commissioned lord high steward of the realm in order to try the earl, who was convicted and sentenced to a term of imprisonment.

Italian Scandal Recalled.

The duke of Avarna, who has just been appointed Italian minister plenipotentiary at Berne, on the resumption of diplomatic relations between the Swiss republic and King Victor Emmanuel's government, is the nobleman whose domestic misfortunes were the cause of much gossip two or three years ago. While envoy at Athens he was compelled by the conduct of his wife, a Russian Princess Dolgorouka by birth, to institute proceedings for judicial separation against her—there is no divorce in Italy—naming as co-respondent a prince bearing one of the most illustrious and ancient names in Europe, a name familiar in the United States through the marriage of one of its members, namely, Prince Ferdinand Colonna, to the daughter of Mrs. John W. Mackay.

The duchess had insisted that the climate of Athens was injurious to her health and remained at Naples, while her husband was at his post. A child was born to her, of which the duke declared he could not, by reason of his absence, possibly be the father, and he ascribed its paternity to Prince Colonna. The court took the same view as the duke, granted him the judicial separation for which he asked, decided the child which he repudiated was not his offspring, but ordered him to pay alimony to the extent of $80 a month to his wife. The duke retains the guardianship of his three elder children.

I may add that matters were complicated by the fury of the duchess' father when he first learned of the charges brought against her by her husband. The old prince declined to believe she could be guilty, and challenged his son-in-law to fight a duel, sending as his seconds a French general and a French diplomat. The duke named as his seconds Gen. de Rennis and Baron de Risels. The fight was postponed pending action by the courts, and the evidence was such that Prince Dolgorouka had to admit his daughter's guilt. There was no duel.

THE DEATH ROLL.

Andrew B. Stevenson.

At 5 o'clock yesterday morning Andrew B. Stevenson of Hazelwood passed from earth. Born on December 30, 1817, on what is now Squirrel Hill, he had almost attained his 85th birthday, and only since last January had he laid aside a most active business life. He learned the trade of cabinet making and subsequently that of pattern making, but in early manhood engaged in real estate and insurance on the South Side. He was county auditor and member of the license board and for several years justice of the peace of the borough of Birmingham. For more than 20 years he was connected with the First National bank of Birmingham as president and director in its affairs, until the infirmities of age prevented his leaving home. He was of good old Irish stock, and his genial, cheerful disposition and kind consideration for others won for him hosts of friends, and none was better known in business circles than "Squire" Stevenson. In 1842 he married Miss Catherine Cameron of Ohio, who died in 1882. In 1885 he was again married to Mrs. T. H. Lougass of Hazelwood, and continued to reside in the family residence at Hazelwood, to which place he removed in 1887. Last year he attended the Knights Templar Conclave at Louisville, going from there to the Buffalo exposition. His father was connected with the old Pennsylvania canal and resided in the lock tender's house in Try street, near where the Panhandle railroad station is now located. He had four brothers, the Hon. William E. Stevenson, governor of West Virginia; John A. Stevenson of Iowa City, Iowa; James H. Stevenson and Thomas J. Stevenson of Allen avenue, East End. The latter gentleman died on May 30 of this year in his 76th year, and a sister residing in Chicago died two weeks before, so that three aged members of the family have passed to the beyond within three months. The deceased is survived by Mrs. Stevenson and three daughters and one son. The daughters are Mrs. Daniel C. Ripley, Mrs. George Barker, Jr., Miss Matilda Stevenson, and the son Mr. John C. Stevenson, president of the Manufacturers bank and vice president of the Iron City National bank. The funeral services will be held on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the family residence, Lytle street, Hazelwood.

Samuel D. Miller.

Samuel D. Miller, the first burgess of Sewickley, and for many years prominent in business in this section, died of general debility late Saturday night at his home, No. 117 First street, Aspinwall. Mr. Miller was born at Montour Run, Moon township, in 1825. While he was a child his parents removed to Sewickley, where, after leaving the public school, he learned the carpenter trade and embarked in the contracting business, having an elder brother as partner. The firm built a large number of the older houses in Sewickley. Mr. Miller was one of the original incorporators of the Sewickley Land Company, and at the time of his death was one of its trustees. In the early 60s Mr. Miller removed from Sewickley to Oil City, Pa., where he became a member of the firms of McKelvy, Miller & Co., and of Riddle, Miller & Co., who during the oil excitement were among the largest buyers and shippers in that country. Mr. Miller also built the water works at Olean, N. Y., and Meadville, Pa., and rebuilt the waterworks at Oil City. In 1880 Mr. Miller returned to Allegheny county to live. At one time he was assistant to Henry Warren, superintendent of the Allegheny county workhouse at Claremont. On the organization of the Aspinwall Land Company Mr. Miller was made its superintendent, and a large number of improvements in Aspinwall borough is due to his efforts. Its well shaded streets were the pride of his life. Mr. Miller is survived by his widow, who was a daughter of John Little of Sewickley, and seven children: S. D. and R. A. Miller of Aspinwall; W. C. Miller of Warren; H. G. Miller of Grandville, O., W. P. Miller and C. G. Miller of Oil City and one daughter, Margaret, wife of Samuel Chase of Zelienople. He is also survived by one brother, James Miller of Oil City, and one sister, Mrs. John C. Little of New Waterford, O. Mr. Miller was a member of the Aspinwall Presbyterian church, where the funeral services will be held this morning at 10:30 o'clock. His body will be taken to Oil City for interment tomorrow afternoon.

He was 59 years old and was born in Jefferson township, this county, and for the last two years had lived in Carnegie. Mr. Snee was a member of the Carnegie Presbyterian church. He is survived by his widow and three children, Thomas, Martha and Margaret.

Harry Knarer.

On August 9, while descending a steep hill on his bicycle, he sustained a fall and received the injury. He was apparently getting better until Saturday, when lockjaw developed. He was 40 years old and is survived by a widow and three children.

Mrs. Mary J. Phillips.

Mrs. Mary J. Phillips, wife of George Phillips, died at New Castle yesterday morning after a long illness from cancer, aged 54 years. Her husband and two children survive.

ALLEGHENIANS ARE COMPLAINING ABOUT GARBAGE

It Is Not Collected Properly and Sanitary Conditions Are Bad.

HEALTH BUREAU ACTIVE

Supt. James A. McLaughlin Has Been Waging Constant Warfare Upon Contractor Joseph Hastings. Physicians Fear an Epidemic.

Many sections of Allegheny have been glutted with garbage nearly all summer. In some portions of the city the garbage collectors have failed to take away the refuse for a month at a time and there has been a contest all these months between Supt. James A. McLaughlin of the bureau of health and Contractor Joseph Hastings, who is supposed to make at least one visit weekly to all houses within the city limits.

The contractor has been short of teams for the Allegheny work and as a result several sections of the city have suffered and complaints at the health department have been numerous. Superintendent McLaughlin has encouraged the filing of these complaints by the people and has, with the men of his department, kept up a steady fight on the garbage contractor to secure better service. The contractor has contended that some new drivers whom he was forced to employ have been also largely responsible for the trouble.

Took on Other Work.

The unhealthful condition that has existed in Allegheny during the hot months of the summer resulted, in part, because Contractor Hastings has taken the contract to clear the garbage for the borough of Bellevue and some of his wagons are said to have been diverted there, while the complement for Allegheny was left short.

In the hill district of the city, out Perrysville avenue and largely throughout the Second ward, most of the garbage nuisance has existed. From the residents along Hollywood place, Morrison avenue, Wilson avenue, Highland and Euclid avenues and other streets running off Perrysville avenue there has been a storm of protest.

Some of the citizens along Perrysville avenue spoken to yesterday declared that the city warrants should have been held out from the garbage contractor till he properly fulfilled his contract.

Many Promises Made.

Superintendent McLaughlin said yesterday that he did not feel justified in taking such a step, because the contractor has been promising constantly to end the trouble and arrange to get more wagons. There are supposed to be 12 wagons gathering the garbage in Allegheny, but it is said that during the summer months, when they were most needed, this number was curtailed.

Several physicians of Allegheny have been considering strenuous measures to stop the trouble. Dr. D. C. McCulloch, living in Perrysville avenue, said yesterday that several of his patients who have been ill were found suffering from neglect of the garbage man. "This is a serious condition at this time of the year," said the doctor. "Some of my patients have told me that they have not seen the garbage man for a month at a time. The trouble, as far as has been called to my attention, seems worst in Highland and Euclid avenues and some of the near-by streets.

Condition Unsanitary.

"Such a condition is certainly conducive to build fever and the various other [illegible] disturbances and fevers. It is a most unsanitary condition at the best and only our good fortune that no more [illegible] has resulted. There are numbers of authorities who contend that a perfect sanitary condition is a better agent to prevent the spread of smallpox than vaccination. Our people cannot afford to tolerate such a condition as has existed in this decomposing garbage.

"Our doctors in the neighborhood told me plainly, as had Dr. McCulloch. In other sections of Allegheny physicians said there had been less trouble [illegible] garbage.

"The office of Dr. A. J. Boucek in Perrysville street it was said that garbage [illegible] in the neighborhood had been [illegible] and miss character which had [illegible] alarm. Drs. R. E. Ferree and John D. Shaner, living in Chestnut street, said that they had heard little of trouble over garbage collection from their patients.

In the finer residence sections of Allegheny there has been little trouble because most of the residents are away and those at home up the garbage collectors very liberally in order to get good service.

Contractor at Fault.

Superintendent James A. McLaughlin of the bureau of health said: "Neglect to haul the garbage away with the specified regularity has caused us more than a little trouble. Conditions have been very bad in past months, but I think we now have matters down to a system that will insure better service. I have encouraged citizens to report their trouble in this matter, fearing results to the health of the people in several section of the city. We have located most of the trouble through these reports and have demanded of the contractor that his service must be brought fully up to specifications.

"There is occasionally an excuse in new drivers missing places and the contractor has been short of wagons. He has some new ones now and the trouble may be regarded as practically over and if it is not I will see to it that relief is had. The contractor and his employes have been much at fault and I am glad to know that the trouble is about over.

"All Allegheny is remarkably free from contagious and infectious diseases such as are usual at this time of year. We have been fortunate in escaping diseases that neglect of the garbage boxes would cause to spread. The unusually cool weather may be partly responsible."

SAYS THEY ARE WINNING.

Secretary of Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers, Thinks They Are Gaining.

National Secretary-Treasurer M. P. Carrick of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers is in Pittsburgh for two or three days' conference with local officials. He says there is nothing of special importance in connection with his visit. He is merely stopping here to keep in touch with affairs, while on his way from New York to headquarters, at Lafayette, Ind.

"It seems quite certain," said Carrick yesterday, "that we will gather up the stronger organization of Amalgamated society of Painters in New York in a short time. We now have 12 locals established there, with a membership of 2,500, against a membership of 4,000 of the Amalgamated. Of greater importance is the fact that most of the leading contractors have accepted our scale and this means that the Amalgamated men must come over to us. There will be a mass meeting of all the painters of New York this week, which will be attended by our general president, J. C. Bahlhorn.

"This is a great victory for us. We started in New York only a few months ago with a handful of men. When we have finally amalgamated all the painters there it will be a great factor to our advantage in all parts of the country and will stop the clashes between the two organizations in cases of trouble, such as that at Pittsburgh this spring. It is senseless for two organizations to keep up a fight of this kind.

"Our organization is now practically the only one in Washington, D. C., where we recently had trouble with the Knights of Labor painters. It is our organization that has the members throughout the country, and it will certainly be a losing game for the others to fight us. They may as well go along with the winners. We have so far defeated these organizations at every point, excepting New York, and we now have the upper hand there.

LEAKING GAS IGNITES.

Mrs. Clifford Oakley of Trenton, N. J., So Badly Burned That Death is Welcomed.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 17.—(Special.)—Mrs. Clifford H. Oakley, wife of the superintendent of the Grieb Rubber Company's plant in this city, was horribly burned today while preparing a meal on a gas stove. Her body was almost entirely incinerated and she died four hours later at the McKinley hospital.

The gas range had been installed in the Oakley home a few days ago and one of the connecting pipes leaked. When Mrs. Oakley applied a match to the burner this morning the escaping gas ignited and in an instant her clothing was ablaze. She shrieked for help and her husband and his brother rushed to her aid. They wrapped a coat about her and threw water over her. Both men were terribly burned on face and hands.

The blaze was finally extinguished, but not until Mrs. Oakley was fatally burned. She was conscious when taken to the McKinley hospital and retained consciousness until shortly before her death. The body will be sent to Cleveland, O., tomorrow, that being Mrs. Oakley's former home.

Postoffice Was Looted.

Postoffice Inspector Frank A. O'Brien was yesterday notified by telegraph that the postoffice at Wehrum, Indiana county, was robbed Saturday night. All the stamps and a large sum of money was stolen.

AMERICAN TOUR SUGGESTED FOR NATIVE PRIESTS

Father McKinnon Believes Visit of Filipinos to U. S. Would Be Beneficial.

BIG TIME AWAITS TAFT

Manila Is Preparing to Enthusiastically Entertain Governor Upon His Arrival Next Thursday—Renewed Action Is Planned in Mindanao.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Manila, Aug. 17.—Father McKinnon, who first came to the Philippines as chaplain of the First California regiment, and who is now pastor of the Catholic church in Ermita, Manila, suggests, when the Philippine hierarchy is reorganized, that 400 of the younger native priests be sent to the United States for a year's training in Catholic seminaries.

Father McKinnon believes such a training would impart to them the spirit of American priesthood and a beneficial knowledge of Americans and their language. He proposes to ask American bishops to assist this project financially.

Reception Planned for Taft.

Gov. William H. Taft is expected to reach here next Thursday. He left Singapore straits settlements last Friday on board the United States gunboat Gen. Alava.

The plans for the reception to be given Gov. Taft are most elaborate. The shipping in the harbor will be decorated and a procession of small craft is to accompany the Gen. Alava up the bay. A series of arches are at present being erected along the line of Gov. Taft's march from the office of the captain of the port, where he will disembark from a launch, to Malacanan palace, where a reception will be given him. A banquet will be given in the evening.

Action Planned in Mindanao.

The Moro situation in Mindanao is considered critical. It is believed that American troops will soon move against Bacolod, where the recent murder of two men of the Twenty-seventh infantry was plotted. A small party of Moros surprised an outpost of the Twenty-seventh at Camp Vicars, Mindanao, August 12, killing two and wounding one American, and escaped. Bitter opposition to the Americans exists at Bacolod, and Capt. John J. Pershing of the Fifteenth cavalry commanding the American forces at Lake Lanao, has recommended the reduction of the Bacolod fort.

Gen. Chaffee, who left Manila August 12 on a final tour of the southern islands, reached Zamboanga, island of Mindanao, last Friday. In a conference with the local commander, Gen. Chaffee argued that unless the American forces moved decisively against the hostiles they would lose the support of the friendly Moros.

Native Crew Mutinies.

The native crew of the inter-insular steamer Mis-Hermanos mutinied at Port Virac, island of Catanduanes, last Thursday. They murdered the chief engineer of the vessel and wounded the captain, the mate, the second engineer and one of the passengers, all of whom are Spaniards.

Numbers of the native constabulary went to the rescue of the ship's officers. They fired into the crew and killed three of them. Twenty-five of the crew surrendered and five jumped overboard and are believed to have drowned. During the fighting on the Mis-Hermanos the steamer ran aground, but was subsequently floated.

THE THREE RIVERS.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 17.—The river at 6 p. m. marked 8.6 feet and falling; weather cloudy and cold; the regular packets and excursion boats out of here today had more business than they could handle. People were turned away in some instances. There were no towboat movements.

LOUISVILLE—River falling; canal, 4.9 feet; falls, 2.7 feet; foot of locks, 7.6 feet; business good; weather clear and pleasant. Packets came and went on time. A crowd went up on the city of Cincinnati this morning and returned on the City of Louisville this evening. Tell City will go again Thursday; J. O. Cole due down with raft; Avalon from Memphis up this evening; W. W. O'Neil and tow arrived from New Orleans this morning and may have to lighten to get through the canal. Exporter and Wash Honshell with tows of empties, will be up tonight and go up. Capt. Max Sebolt if back from Rising Sun.

MEMPHIS—The river here stands 11.7 feet on the gauge, a fall of two-tenths in the last 24 hours. The James Lee arrived last night from Friars Point. She brought in from Eyple Landing, Ark., 40 miles below, the first new bale of cotton this season by river, and 10 sacks of new cotton seed. The Josie and barge from St. Louis passed down late last evening for the lower bends after a load of logs for St. Louis, Mo.; no arrivals or departures of transfer steamers today.

MARIETTA—River 4.5 feet and falling; pleasant; Virginia and Lorena due down.

POINT PLEASANT—River 4 feet and falling; cloudy; down, Henry M. Stanley, Bill Clark, Greenwood; up, Tom Dodsworth.

GALLIPOLIS—River 3 feet and falling; clear and warm; Greenwood down; Queen City up.

PARKERSBURG—River 5.8 feet and falling; warm and clear; Ben Hur for Wheeling this morning, and due after midnight for Cincinnati.

OIL CITY—River 1 foot 4 inches and falling; clear and cool.

GREENSBORO—River 6 feet 6 inches and falling; fair and warmer; Elizabeth and Cherry down Monday and the Gertrude and Woodward up.

MORGANTOWN—River 7 feet and stationary; clear and warm.

BROWNSVILLE—River 5 feet and stationary; clear.

STEUBENVILLE—River 3 feet 5 inches and falling; up, Bessie Smith and Kanawha; down, Lorena and Virginia.

WARREN—River nine-tenths of a foot; weather fair and cool.

WHEELING—River 4 feet 1 inch and falling; clear and cool; departed, Bessie Smith, Pittsburgh, 11 a. m.; Kanawha, Pittsburgh, 2 p. m.; Lorena, Zanesville, 2 p. m.; Keystone State, Pittsburgh, 4 p. m.; Virginia, Cincinnati, 7 p. m.

Packets Leaving Today.

Bessie Smith, Parkersburg, noon.
Keystone State, Cincinnati, 4 p. m.
Gertrude, Morgantown, 3 p. m.

At 9 o'clock last night the stage of water at Davis Island dam was 3.5 feet and falling.

News of the Rivers.

The Kanawha should have no trouble reaching Pittsburgh on the present stage of water.

The Keystone State will come up the Ohio as far as she can, and will transfer freight and passengers.

The Bessie Smith leaves today in place of the Ben Hur, for Ohio river points as far down as Parkersburg.

Two years ago the Cincinnati packets could come to Pittsburgh on a 3.8-foot stage of water at the Davis Island dam; now it takes a foot more. This is the result of the removal of a dyke from the Ohio river at the Sewickley trap.

The rain knocked off the barge in tow of the Jack Frost by the H. K. Bedford, near Fish creek, and drowned, was Thomas Edwards, 37 years old and married, living on Lower Elm street, Cincinnati. Edwards was carried under the barge and his body has not yet been recovered.

There is a quiet tip out that there will be no more direct boats to New Orleans from Cincinnati. In order to resume this business the Memphis & Cincinnati Packet Company would either have to build new boats or buy them. According to an authority no boats will be built, at least not for next season's southern trade. The Memphis trade will always be continued as long as there is water, and freight will be received for all points below Memphis on the Mississippi and St. Louis. This will be reshipped at Memphis.

BIBLE CONFERENCE OPENS AT WINONA

OVER 1,500 MINISTERS OF VARIOUS DENOMINATIONS PRESENT.

Several Enthusiastic Meetings Were Held During the Day and Evening and Sermons Were Preached by Well-Known English and Scotch Clergymen.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WARSAW, IND., Aug. 17.—The eighth annual session of the National Bible conference was opened at Winona today with 1,500 ministers of various denominations in attendance. The opening sermon was preached by the Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman, the director of the conference. The speaker lamented the condition of coldness prevalent in the churches of today. He also told the preachers that they were not preaching Christ and that in the ministry at present there seemed an accentuated disposition toward idleness.

The Rev. G. Johnston Ross, pastor of St. Paul's church, London, preached his first sermon in the United States this afternoon. He spoke on "The Glory of Christ," and took occasion to make a strong plea for more reverence in churches for the Saviour, who belongs to no sect or creed, but is for all men.

The Hillside service, which corresponds to Northfield's "Round Top meetings," was conducted by the Rev. James Mursell, pastor of the Upper Clapton Baptist church, London. Mr. Mursell is an associate and co-laborer of the Rev. F. B. Meyer, and is prominently identified with the Christian Endeavor movement in Europe. Nearly 3,000 persons attended this outdoor meeting.

The evening sermon was delivered by the Rev. George Jackson, pastor of the Methodist Tabernacle at Edinburgh, Scotland. The Rev. Arthur J. Smith of New York conducted the early morning devotional exercises. The Sunday school had an attendance of 2,000, the largest in the history of the conference at Winona. At this meeting F. C. Hall of Indianapolis, prominently identified with this branch of work, announced that a movement is on foot to make Winona the Sunday school center of the country by securing the annual meetings of the International committee, whose work is to arrange the Sunday school lessons for the world.

Many foreign missionaries and pastors are here. Every state in the union is represented, and Canada also is well represented. The opening meeting tomorrow will be a conference on Jews, led by the Rev. Thomas M. Chalmers of Chicago.

BELLS WERE BLESSED AND RANG JOYFULLY

Imposing Services Accompanied Ceremony at Second Greek Catholic Church.

The new bells just placed in the tower of the Second Greek Catholic church on Carson street were sounded for the first time yesterday morning, after they had been blessed by the Very Rev. Andrew Hodoboy, vicar-general of the Greek Catholic church in America.

The ceremony was participated in by nearly all of the Greek Catholic societies in the county and was very impressive. Preceding the ceremony the South Side societies, headed by a brass band, formed on Carson street at the church near South Seventeenth and marched across the South Twenty-second street bridge, where they were met by other societies of the Second avenue district and proceeded to Fifth avenue and Smithfield street, where the Allegheny delegation fell in line.

Organizations from Braddock, Homestead, Duquesne and other neighboring towns were picked up at the Baltimore & Ohio and Lake Erie depots and proceeded to the church, arriving there at 10 a. m. About 4,000 men were in line, marching to the music furnished by five bands.

The vicar-general was assisted by the pastor of the church, the Rev. Father John Szabo, and the Rev. Julius Medretzky. High mass was sung after the bells had been blessed and anointed with oils, by the Rev. Hodoboy, assisted by the Rev. Alexis Hobosngoy of Homestead and the Rev. John Korotnoky of Allegheny, as deacon and sub-deacon.

The Rev. Hodoboy delivered the sermon in the old Slavonic language, reciting the history of the church and the important part played by the bells in noting the hours of worship, and was followed by the Rev. Julius Medretzky and the Rev. Szabo in the Magyar and English tongues. A dinner was given in the afternoon by the Rev. Szabo at his residence, No. 712 Carson street, at which the visiting clergy and leading members of the congregation were present.

FORMAL LEAVE TAKING.

The Rev. C. L. Thurgood Delivers His Farewell Sermon Prior to an Extended Vacation.

The Rev. C. L. Thurgood, pastor of the Central Christian church, delivered his farewell sermon yesterday morning, incidental to his extended vacation. Mr. Thurgood leaves this week, accompanied by Mrs. Thurgood, for his old home in Australia.

In his morning sermon he reviewed the work of the past nine years of his pastorate, and concluded by urging his congregation to "hold fast to the faith" and "look unto the rock whence ye are hewn."

As stated in The Gazette, the congregation held a family surprise party Friday night last, at which was given a substantial memento of the congregation's gratitude and appreciation of his labors.

At the conclusion of the services last evening both Mr. and Mrs. Thurgood formally bade their friends farewell. Mr. Thurgood expects to be gone some four or five months. The pulpit will be filled by supplies during that period.

KILLED BY A STORM.

One Life Lost and Heavy Damage to Buildings and Cotton Crop in Georgia.

SAVANNAH, GA., Aug. 17.—A severe electrical storm with high wind passed over the southern section of Georgia early today. At Sillimore the roundhouse of the Air Line railway was blown down and wrecked. At Waynesboro a dwelling was blown down and one man killed. At Bartow the Baptist church and the academy building were struck by lightning and narrowly escaped destruction. At Swainsboro a building was struck by lightning and burned.

In all the section the opening cotton was whipped from the bolls and ruined. The loss from this source is heavy.

POPE LEO GIVES ANOTHER PROOF OF HIS VITALITY

Overrules Physician's Limit to Number of Guests at Name-Day Reception.

IS UNUSUALLY ANIMATED

Later Declares He Feels Better After Every Occasion of This Kind, Notwithstanding What Dr. Lapponi Thinks About It.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Rome, Aug. 17.—The pope is in such good health that it was not thought necessary to suspend the Saturday audiences, as has hitherto been the custom, in order to give the pontiff strength for a fatiguing ceremony such as the great name day reception of today.

Dr. Lapponi, the pope's physician, insisted, however, upon limiting the number of guests to 200 instead of the usual 500. The efforts to obtain invitations to the name day reception were so persistent and came from such high quarters that the pontiff, hearing of them, overruled his physician's advice and had an additional hundred guests included.

The innumerable letters and telegrams of felicitation received by the pontiff included communications from Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria and King Alfonso of Spain. The communication from the king of Spain was the first missive sent to his godfather by King Alfonso since his coronation.

The pope held the reception in his private library. He showed no signs of fatigue and spoke with almost every one present. He appeared to be unusually animated and recognized the Right Rev. Benjamin J. Kelley, bishop of Savannah, Ga., who was the only American present, immediately he perceived him. The pope said to Bishop Kelley:

"I am glad to see you again before you leave."

Bishop Kelley said later that he was astonished at the pontiff's vitality and brightness of mind.

Upon re-entering his private apartments the pope said:

"It doesn't matter what Dr. Lapponi says; I feel better after each occasion of this kind."

The reception lasted for one hour. His holiness talked about the collapse of the Campanile of St. Marks at Venice, and expressed a wish to see the restoration of the roof of the Lateran Palace before he died.

OFF FOR STATE SHOOT.

Teams from Local Regiments Go to Mt. Gretna in Hopeful State.

Flushed with the hope of winning at least the brigade trophy, and even of having a member or two compete for the division trophy, the rifle teams of the Tenth, Fourteenth and Eighteenth regiments, N. G. P., departed last night over the Pennsylvania railroad for Mt. Gretna, where the state rifle shoot is to be held. Today will probably be devoted to practice on the range, and the prize shooting will begin tomorrow and will last until Friday. Each team is composed of five regular men and one reserve, and each is accompanied by the inspector of rifle practice of his respective regiment. Fifteen teams will compete, one from each infantry regiment and cavalry troop of the state.

For the first time in the history of state rifle shooting, the Krag-Jorgensen rifle will be used and a 1,000-yard target will be shot at the first time. After the regimental shooting is over, brigade teams will be made up to contest for the bronze trophy, given by Gen. Charles Miller, and now held by the Sixteenth regiment. After that prize has been disposed of, a team will be made up from the brigade teams, to go to the interstate target shooting at Seagirt, N. J., where most of the states that have a national guard will be represented, as well as the regular army and the guard of the District of Columbia.

Remember the Date, Saturday, August 23rd.

On above date the Pennsylvania Railroad will sell excursion tickets, Pittsburgh to Niagara Falls and return, good five days returning, at rate of $5.

Two fast trains leave Union Station at 9:00 a. m. and 10:45 p. m., eastern standard time. Pullman accommodations on both trains.

DEAF MUTES HAD SERMON IN THE SIGN LANGUAGE

Interesting Services in Trinity Protestant Episcopal Church.

WERE GIVEN COMMUNION

Twenty-Five Members of the Church, Without Power of Hearing or Speech, Received Spiritual Advice and Comfort.

The Rev. Austin W. Mann, general missionary to the deaf mutes of the Protestant Episcopal church, conducted services yesterday morning in Trinity church for the deaf mutes of Pittsburgh and the surrounding towns. It was undoubtedly the quietest service conducted in Trinity church this year, since not one of those interested, not even the minister himself, could speak. This voiceless ministry, however, has its attractions to the outside world, as was evidenced by the large congregation that attended the services.

THE REV. AUSTIN W. MANN,

There were in all 25 of these voiceless ones present, and all received the teachings of the Episcopal church just as fully as those who hear the faith propounded from Christmas to Christmas. Each one of the mutes received holy communion, according to the Episcopal rite, the sacrament being administered by the voiceless minister. Those present came from Edgewood, Crafton, Allegheny and other places hereabouts.

Sermon in Sign Language.

At the conclusion of the communion service Mr. Mann preached a sermon in the sign language, his text being taken from the word "Ephphatha," found in the gospel of the day. As interpreted to a Gazette reporter, Mr. Mann said to his "voiceless" friends:

"There is a lesson in today's gospel for us. The deaf man of the Bible story did not go to the Savior himself and plead, as did the blind man. Rather neighbors, strangers or friends pleaded for him. And what did Christ do? He took the deaf man aside from the multitude and, by signs, communicated with him.

"Then this God, this Savior of all mankind, this one sent into the world to preach the gospel of peace and of salvation, this Man amongst men, born to be crucified, looked with compassion upon the deaf one and said: 'Ephphatha'—'Be Opened.' And lo! from that day he spake as other men. The deaf man had heard but little of Christ and His miracles, but now was convinced that he was God, the One that was to come.

Advice to Deaf Mutes.

"What Christ did then is not impossible at this late day, were it necessary to work such miracles to prove His divinity. But even us He has not forgotten. The voiceless ministry is taught to those who wish to know of God. Bear in mind, then, to make the Christ-life your study. Take advantage of the various means at your disposal to elevate your minds and souls. Educate yourself for the higher life. Aim high. This affliction should not deter you from being ambitious to get along in the world. Look to your Master! Study His life!"

The Rev. Mr. Mann, who conducted the services, has been in the ministry for over a quarter of a century and has been deprived of his hearing since his infancy. He has conducted over 5,000 services in all parts of the world. He left here last evening for missions in Michigan. Special services were also held in the afternoon.

PASSIONISTS ARE HOLDING SESSION

ELECTION OF PROVINCIAL COMES WEDNESDAY AFTER HIGH MASS.

The Very Rev. Father Stephen Kealy Will Probably Be Chosen Again. Former President of Kenyon College One of Noted Men in Attendance.

Preliminary sessions, incident to the formal opening of the triennial chapter of the Passionist order in the province of St. Paul and of the cross, are being held in St. Paul's monastery, South Side. These sessions are being held in the spacious library of the monastery, the Very Rev. Father John Baudinelli of Rome, Italy, presiding.

Father John is consultor-general of the order throughout the world, and is here representing the general, who is the head of the entire order. Father John will remain here for the celebration of the fifth anniversary of the order, which will be held soon.

The fathers held a session yesterday morning. The chapter proper will open Wednesday morning with a solemn high mass of the Holy Ghost, sung by the consultor-general. At the conclusion of the mass the fathers will repair to the library, and after prayer will begin balloting for the election of a provincial.

May Be Re-Elected.

The present provincial is the Very Rev. Father Stephen Kealy. Although the fathers are averse to speaking about the election, it is believed that Father Kealy will be re-elected. A noted priest attending the chapter is the Rev. Father Fidelis (James Kent Stone), former president of Kenyon college. His father, the Rev. John Seely Stone, was a noted Protestant Episcopal clergyman, and is especially remembered by that denomination as the founder of the theological seminary at Philadelphia, and as dean of the theological school at Cambridge, Mass.

Father Fidelis is a Harvard graduate. He was ordained to the Protestant Episcopal ministry, and a few years afterward, in 1867, was elected president of Kenyon college.

He entered the Catholic church in 1869 and was for several years a member of the Paulist order. A desire for a more rigid religious life led him to the Passionists, one of the most austere religious bodies in the church.

Might Hold High Office.

Father Fidelis, despite his many intellectual acquirements, is one of the most modest men in the order. He is now one of the consultors to the provincial in this country, and it is only his humility that prevents him from holding the highest office in his order. Other priests who are here attending the chapter are Fathers Robert, Albert, Alphonsus, Boniface, Joseph, Felix and George. These are the rectors of the various houses throughout the country.

In conjunction with Father Michael, rector of St. Paul's monastery, the provincial and the two consultors, Fathers Mark and Fidelis, and Father Denis, master of novices, they make up the chapter. All of the rectors, with the exception of Father Albert Phelan, rector of St. Mary's, Dunkirk, N. Y., are eligible for re-election. Father Albert, as he is known among his brother priests, has served as rector of St. Mary's two terms, or six years, and is therefore, according to the rules of the order, ineligible to re-election.

Method of Election.

The election is carried out in a thoroughly democratic spirit, each one voting for whom he chooses. No ante-election "gossip" is permitted, so that when the rectors come to ballot for a provincial no one knows for whom the other is voting. Inasmuch as the provincial is the highest office in this country the balloting not infrequently becomes spirited, and the election has often been carried over two days.

When the provincial is elected the fathers and the entire community repair to the monastery church and sing a Te Deum. The election of the provincial is followed by the balloting for rectors of the various houses.

JESUS, THE SPIRIT OF OUR CIVILIZATION

The Rev. John A. Jayne Begins a Series of Sermons on the Life of Christ.

In the Observatory Hill Christian church yesterday morning the Rev. John A. Jayne, pastor, preached a sermon on "The Great Gallilean," being the first in a series of sermons on the life of Christ. He said, in part:

"The most stupendous, sublime and significant fact in all history is Jesus Christ. He has met life at every turn and rounded it at every corner. All art philosophy and commerce find their inspiration in His wonderous career. The greatest pictures that stand as the masterpieces of the world are those depicting scenes from His life. Philosophy has found in Him its Alhpa and its Omega. The great business enterprises of our age carry His teaching into effect. You may no more blot His influence from civilization than you may blot the sun from the heavens. He was the first real gentleman the world ever knew. The true gentleman is the one who seeks to draw the best from every man he meets. On the lips of Jesus hung the most tender and sympathetic words of all literature. Hard words are like dollars borrowed from a pawn broker, upon them we pay compound interest.

"Kind words are like dollars loaned to true friends, their interest is perpetual and constantly being returned to us. Jesus never had a son or a daughter, He never drew a bill of lading and never made a draft, yet He is the delight of childhood, the inspiration of business and old men long for the time when they shall clasp His hand and see His face. He never went beyond the confines of His own country, a country no larger than the state of Vermont, yet the spirit of His brotherhood reaches throughout the world. You attach a 50-mile cord to the highest turret of Pittsburgh's magnificent court hourse and drawing it taut make an imaginary circle around the building and you have compassed the largest territory that Jesus ever traveled; yet His name and fame are undying. He never penned a line, save once, so far as we know, never joined in song, save once, but all literature and poetry feel the impulse of His mighty heart. Truly He is called 'The Great Gallilean.'"

CHARITY SISTER WILL CELEBRATE SILVER JUBILEE

Well Known Local Member of Order Has 25 Years to Her Credit.

AUGUST 29 IS THE DATE

Sister Mary Raphael, Formerly Head of East End Hospital and St. John's Parochial School, Has Done Much Good Work.

Sister Mary Raphael, one of the best known members of the Sisters of Charity order in Pittsburgh and until recently the superintendent of the East End hospital, will celebrate the silver jubilee of her profession as a nun on August 29. The anniversary celebration will be held at the East End hospital and will be attended by a large number of Sister Raphael's friends in this city.

The Rev. Father Ubaldis of the Holy of Christians Roman Catholic church, East End, who is chaplain at the hospital, will celebrate mass in the morning and benediction in the afternoon in the hospital chapel.

Sister Raphael, who was born and raised in the Third ward, Pittsburgh, since entering the charity order has had charge of a number of religious institutions in this city. In the world she was known as Miss Nellie Kane, and entered the charity order at the convent in Aitoons.

For some time she was stationed at the St. Roadina's Foundling asylum when that institution's building was located in Boquet street, Oakland. Later Sister Raphael had charge of the parochial school, connected with the St. John the Baptist church, in Lawrenceville.

About six months after the East End hospital was established in Collins avenue she was appointed superintendent. During her administration at the hospital she has brought that institution into the front rank of hospitals in Pittsburgh, and it was largely through her efforts that the present success of the institution was attained.

She had also considerable to do with the preliminary work which has resulted in the purchase of the elegant site at the Beechwood boulevard and Frankstown avenue, on which the new $500,000 East End hospital buildings are to be erected this winter.

Sister Raphael, who is now stationed at the Greensburg convent, is at present attending the 50th anniversary of the establishment of the Sisters of Charity in Cincinnati.

FIRST OCEAN VOYAGE OF MUZAFFAR-ED-DIN

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, Aug. 17.—Muzaffar-Ed-Din, shah of Persia, arrived at Dover at noon today on board the steamer Empress from Calais. At the shah's request the Empress made the trip over at slow speed. The steamer was escorted by the British cruisers Galatea and Immortalite and was greeted by salutes from the batteries at Dover and an imposing military display.

The shah is said to have exhibited great nervousness upon embarking on the Empress at Calais for his first sea trip, but he bore the journey well, and when Prince Arthur of Connaught boarded the steamer and greeted him, the shah smiled and conversed with animation.

The shah and Prince Arthur walked together through the cheering crowds at Dover to the Lord Warden hotel, where Muzaffar-Ed-Din will spend the night, coming to London tomorrow.

OLD TESTAMENT SATISFIES JEWS

RABBI KOPLOWITZ ANSWERS SERMON OF THE REV. DR. WOOD.

He Says That Monotheism Is Spirit of Faith, That Jewish Messiah Is Yet to Come and Without Miracles New Testament Falls.

In reply to the recent sermon of the Rev. Dr. E. M. Wood the following letter has been received by The Gazette from Rabbi I. Koplowitz of Duquesne:

"I have read with mingled feelings of interest and surprise the article under the caption: 'Why the Jews Should Receive New Testament' of your valued issue of the 11th inst., in which the Rev. Dr. E. M. Wood pleads for the acceptance of the New Testament by the Jews.

"Permit me to answer: 'Why the Jews Can Not Receive the New Testament.'

"Firstly, the Old Testament proclaims throughout its holy pages the ideal precept and lofty doctrine of Monotheism, pure and unadulterated. 'I am the Lord thy God, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage. Thou shalt have no other gods before Me.' (Ex. xx:2-3). 'Hear, O Isreal, the Lord is our God, the Lord is one.' 'I am the first and I am the last, and besides Me there is no God.'

"Unity of God, a One, indivisable and unseparable God, is the high standard of the Old Testament. This doctrine of a One God is the pivot of the Old Testament.

"The Jews, therefore, cannot receive the New Testament, as they would necessarily be compeled to amend the decalogue and admit Jesus and the Holy Spirit in the partnership with Jehovah. Aside of the just protestations of the prophets against polytheism, this trinity doctrine of the New Testament is not a step of progress in the arena of thought and sentiment, but rather retrogression. One God, one heaven, one law, one brotherhood, is good enough doctrine for the Jew.

"Secondly, the Jewish Messiah, whether it be in the form of a person or an era—as some prophets are contending—has never been realized in the advent of the New Testament Christ. The Jewish Messiah was to restore not only the temporal power of Isreal but He was above all expected to establish Zion as the universal capital of Monotheism. Zion today is a bone of political and commercial contention.

"Greek Catholics are crucifying Roman crosses, while Protestant missionaries, representing numberless Christian denominations, have their own crosses. Outside of Zion the world trembles at the tread of Christian armies actively engaged in bloody wars, dealing out death and carnage to their own co-religionists. O, where is the power of the New Testament! O, where is the sweet influence of the New Testament! O, where is the much boasted Christian civilization!

"While the Jews, though enjoying neither king, prince or potentate, and continually undergoing bitterest persecution, merely the mighty influence of the spirit of the Old Testament capable not only to offer matchless martyrdom—but also maintain a high order of morality, homesacredness and charity. The Jews, therefore, need not the New Testament, which in the last 19 centuries proved quite a failure among Christians.

"Thirdly, outside of the miracles, including birth, and death and the resurrection of Jesus—the New Testament does not advance a single moral or ethical doctrine which, if of any importance, cannot be found in the Old Testament, while on the other hand, it omits and neglects many vital issues, too numerous to mention. Miracles are positively not essential to Judaism. Without miracles the Old Testament stands sublimest, par excellence! While, if you divest the New Testament of its miracles, it falls together into a heap of ruin! These I believe to be good reasons why the Jews cannot receive the New Testament.

"With reference to the Talmud, I wonder if the zealous Dr. Wood ever saw a copy! If he ever read it, in the original, he must have discovered with his keen vision, beneath its rubbish—which I admit it contains—some superb gems, not to be found either in the Old or New Testament.

"The Jew, though suffering untold persecutions for his loyalty to his uplifting belief in Monotheism, does by no means despair, but rather exclaims in the words of the martyr Job: 'I know that my Redeemer liveth.'"

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS OF WORK ROUNDED OUT

The Rev. Father John Price, of West End, Has Silver Anniversary.

CHARGE REMEMBERS HIM

Solemn High Mass Will Be Attended by Many Visiting Priests—Congregation Will Felicitate Pastor and Present Him With Purse.

Yesterday the Rev. Father John Price, rector of St. James' Catholic church, West End, rounded out a quarter of a century in the ministary. This event in the popular priest's life is not to be overlooked. As stated in The Gazette some weeks ago, his parishioners propose to celebrate it with becoming dignity.

Father Price will commemorate his silver anniversary this morning by celebrating a solemn high mass at 10:30 o'clock. His brother priests, to the number of 35, will attend this anniversary mass, taking their places in the sanctuary. Father Price will be assisted by Fathers Woelfel and Kenoy, as deacon and sub-deacon respectively. Father Martin, assistant at St. James, will be master of ceremonies.

Following the religious celebration Father Price will entertain his brothers in the ministry at his residence, adjoining the church.

In the evening the parishioners will have their turn, and that the good rector will hear pleasant things said of him, and receive some other things that will gladden his heart is a foregone conclusion. The parishioners are not talking more than is necessary, but are filling a purse of handsome proportions with which they intend their rector shall take a needed rest.

The exercises incidental to the presentation of the purse will be held in the Thaddeus Stevens public school. The program is made up of musical gems and recitations. A touching feature of the exercises will be "The Swing Song" and "The Flower Song," to be sung by the little ones who attend Father Price's church. At the conclusion of "The Flower Song," 200 of these little ones will lay a garland of roses before him.

The musical feature of the evening will be the chorus, "The Lost Chord," to be sung by the Young Ladies' sodality. This chorus has been trained by David Moore, the noted baritone.

The obligato will be sung by Miss Louise Minick, accompanied on the violin by Miss Gertrude Heffernan. Miss Sue Hughes will be the pianist.

Patrick Foley, one of the oldest members of the congregation, will then present Father Price with a purse in behalf of Division 19, A. O. H., Branch 41, C. M. B. A., the L. C. B. A., the Young Ladies' sodality, and members of the parish. The societies named are connected with the church. The affair will conclude with the singing of "My Old Kentucky Home."

As stated in The Gazette, Father Price was born in New York city in 1852, and studied in St. Michael's seminary, Glenwood, and St. Mary's, Baltimore. He was ordained by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Tuigg of St. Paul's cathedral. He has been rector of St. James since July, 1897, previous to which he was in charge of the Natrona church and several mission churches in various parts of the diocese.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 17.—With Poole, the ex-Pirate, in the box today the Reds defeated the champion Pittsburgh team for the first time this season. It was probably the best game seen on the local grounds this year, and 15,000 people were out.

They were amply repaid for their coming, for they saw a game of ball that was of the finest type. Not a semblance of an error was to be seen.

In the ninth it looked as though Pittsburgh would win out with one of their sensational finishes. This was the most exciting part of the game.

In the eighth the Reds had succeeded in forging to the front by one run. Then the Pirates came to the bat. Burke and O'Connor went out easily and the crowd began to get ready to leave. It was not over yet, however.

Big Chief Zimmer doubled and Phillippe tore off a single and Zimmer went to third. Then came the star batsman of the league, Beaumont.

Beaumont Struck Out.

After making two fouls Poole allowed three balls and it looked as though Beau would walk.

The crowd was transfixed. The next ball, however, split the plate and Beau let it pass, while Irwin called him out and the Reds had a Pittsburgh scalp dangling at their belt.

Then enthusiasm knew no bounds. The enormous crowd rushed upon the field and lifted Poole into the air and carried him to the dressing room. Never before during this season has such a demonstration taken place. The people seemed to have gone temporarily insane.

It was a great day for Poole and as it was his first appearance on the slab in this city since he joined the Reds he has already won himself a warm place in the hearts of the fans.

Conroy at short played a great game and made many sensational steps. The runs were made as follows:

How Reds Were Scored.

In the fifth Phillippe started off with a double. Beaumont sacrificed and Phillippe came home on Leach's fly to Crawford. Wagner drew a base on balls, but was caught trying to steal second.

In the Reds' half with one out, Corcoran singled, but was caught at second. Steinfeld singled and came home on Bergen's double. Poole struck out. He got revenge in the next inning, however, by retiring the side on strike-outs.

In the eighth Kelley singled and Beckley flied out to center. Crawford forced Kelley at second, but stole that base a moment later.

Seymour singled and Crawford came home, but Cy was caught trying to make second. Then came the sensational ninth.

Both Currie, who succeeded Pearson after the third inning and Donovan, pitched sensational ball. Attendance, 11,709. Score:

BOTH FIGHTERS ARE CONFIDENT

CLAIM THEY ARE SURE OF VICTORY AT LOUISVILLE NEXT MONTH.

Young Corbett Goes to His New Training Quarters today—McGovern Thinks Change in Battle Ground Will Be Significant.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Sturdier and healthier looking than ever, Wm. Rothwell, better known as "Young Corbett," arrived in this city late Saturday night from his training quarters at Unionville, Conn.

The little featherweight champion appeared to be in excellent condition and very happy when surrounded by a number of sporting men at the Metropole hotel shortly after his arrival.

Corbett's face had a fine, healthy appearance, and his eyes sparkled with brilliancy. He looked fit to enter the ring. He explained to "Honest" John Kelly and John Considine that he did not have an ill or care of any kind and only regretted that the contest had been postponed.

"I know I can beat McGovern again," the champion said, "and I would like to have it over with. There are a number of persons who refuse to recognize me as McGovern's superior as a boxer in spite of the fact that I have already beaten him, but when we meet on September 22 I will do the work in a way to convince everybody that I am McGovern's master."

With all details for the transfer of the battle ground of the Corbett-McGovern contest from New London to Louisville completed, Terry McGovern is in a happy frame of mind. The former featherweight champion said the southern consuits him as well as New London and regard the shift as a good omen for him.

Victories have already been won by the little Brooklynite in the arena of the Louisville organization. His only defeat was sustained in Connecticut, hence Terry who is superstitious, believes the change of battle ground is significant.

McGovern is certainly in better shape today than he was a few days prior to the contest in Hartford last Thanksgiving day, when he went down to defeat before Young Corbett. Then the little fellow looked worried. He is now chipper and appears to be without a care in the world. His face is fuller than it was last November, his eye brighter, his movements more lively, and altogether he is a different looking lad. He is also heavier and stronger.

He expressed the greatest confidence in his ability to defeat "Young Corbett" in Louisville on September 22.

"Young Corbett is a great little fighter," he said, "but I am sure I can beat him. I don't want to offer any excuses for my defeat at Hartford last November, but I will say that I will enter the ring in much improved form on September 22."

McGovern has been working hard since he began training at Stratford. His exercise has consisted of from 10 to 20 rounds of boxing, bicycle riding, rowing, walking, swimming and bag punching. The little Brooklynite has been active all the time he has been here, and now he looks like a thoroughly trained athlete.

His face is as brown as a berry, his skin has a good, healthy appearance and his muscles are good and hard. The former champion certainly never looked better, and on looks alone he is a more dangerous lad than the "Terry" who ceased to be "Terrible" after three rounds of fighting with "Young Corbett" in Hartford nine months ago.

SARATOGA, Aug. 17.—The sale of yearlings from the Fairview stud, the property of C. & A. J. Reed, took place in the saddling paddock before a large crowd yesterday. The highest price was $6,000, which Capt. S. S. Brown gave for the bay colt by Pessara-Period, a half brother to Cushma and Semi-Colon.

Capt. Brown has sold to Messrs. Thomas Hitchcock and John E. Madden the 2-year-old colt River Pirate, price $8,000.

Capt. Brown said yesterday that the published statement that he would ship to Sheepshead this week is not true. He will race his horses here also as occasion serves, a report to the contrary notwithstanding.

SOCIETY WOMEN START A HORSE RACING STABLE

Wives of H. P. Whitney and H. B. Duryea Purchase a Fine String.

MADDEN THEIR TRAINER

Famous Horseman Will Look After the Women's Interests with the "Ponies" Until All Their Arrangements Are Complete.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 17.—Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney and Mrs. Herman B. Duryea have formed a racing partnership and will operate on the turf under the name of "Mr. Roslyn."

The partnership was formed and the stable started yesterday morning with one horse. The one thoroughbred was increased to two by noon and to three in the afternoon. At a late hour last night it was asserted on the highest authority that "Mr. Roslyn" would buy no more horses before Monday.

The present assets of the firm are: Alsono, chestnut gelding, 2 years old, by Altamax—Sonorita: Intervention, bay filly, 2 years, by Medler—Knickknack; brown filly, 2 year old, by St. Blaise—Seaweed; three hunters, three blankets and three surcingles.

All the other equipment needed for a racing stable has been borrowed, for 48 hours at least, from John E. Madden. All harness shops and feed stores are closed.

On Monday it may be taken for granted tha "Mr. Roslyn" will acquire whatever may be needed in the way of stable paraphernalia and install it and his horses in a barn of his own.

It is credibly reported that the new firm is looking for the racing scalps of the firm of Whitney & Duryea, composed of one Harry Payne Whitney and one Herman B. Duryea.

It is even hinted that so strong is the feeling existing between "Mr. Roslyn" and Whitney & Duryea that the new firm absolutely spurned a well-meant offer of stable accommodations for over Sunday, made by Whitney & Duryea early this afternoon. As far as possible "Mr. Roslyn" will have an entry in every race in which Whitney & Duryea start a horse and the new firm will make it the particular business of its copartnership to wipe the older firm off the turf.

The racing colors of the new firm have yet to be chosen. As soon as they have been decided upon the Jockey club will be asked to register for life the firm name "Mr. Roslyn," and whatever colors are selected, unless "Mr. Roslyn" becomes extremely exclusive, it is probable that the riding for the stable will be done by Turner and Burns. Mr. Madden will train "Mr. Roslyn's" horses, even if he has to hire a man to train his own.

ONLINE IS DEAD.

Great Pacing Stallion Succumbed to Colic at Minnehaha Driving Park.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 17.—Online, the great pacing stallion owned by M. W. Savage, died at the Minnehaha driving park today of colic. Mr. Savage valued the horse at $25,000.

Online at the time of his death held the 4-year-old stallion pacing record of 2:04. The performance was made at Sioux City, Ia., October 12, 1898. After Online had made his record at Sioux City he was placed in the stud and never raced afterward.

Besides holding the 4-year-old record, Online held the record for 2-year-olds of 2:11. In 1899 Online was one of four stallions to put three colts in the 2:15 class, and in the year 1900, he put more pacers on the list than any other stallion, living or dead. Online was 12 years old.

KRAMER WON THE OPEN CYCLE RACE

FAMOUS RIDER TOOK PROFESSIONAL EVENT AT VAILSBURG.

Floyd McFarland and Bowler in the Final Heat Finished Lengths Behind Kramer and Each Other—Single Motor Used for Pace.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 17.—The most exciting race of the day at Valisburg was the professional open. A single motor bycycle was used to pace the riders in each heat, as well as in the final.

The motor was stopped each time after going three quarters of a mile, leaving the sprinters to fight it out alone in the last quarter. Kramer captured the first heat in 1:58; Carni, the second heat in 2:02; J. Bedell, the third in 1:58 2-5; McFarland, the fourth in 2:04; Stevens, the fifth in 2:02 1-5, and Bowler, the sixth in 1:59 1-5.

After three semi-finals only Kramer, McFarland and Bowler were left in for the final. Kramer caught the pace and the race was a procession to the finish with Kramer winning by a length, and McFarland as far in front of the Chicago man.

The half mile consolation for amateurs resulted in a victory for the colored division, as the winner, Dove, and the second man, Bailey, are both colored men. Summaries:

One mile, handicap, amateur—Won by H. E. Chapper, Little Falls, 40 yards; W. L. Losee, Brooklyn, 20 yards, second; Walter Courter, West Orange, 120 yards, third. Time, 2:01 4-5.

One mile motor paced, professional—Won by Frank L. Kramer, East Orange; F. A. McFarland, San Jose, Cal., second; James Bowler, Chicago, third. Time, 1:59.

Half-mile, consolation, amateur—Won by M. T. Dove, New York; Edwin Bailey, New York, second; W. L. Losee, Brooklyn, third. Time, 1:7.

Five-mile handicap, professional—Won by F. A. McFarland, San Jose, Cal., scratch; William Martin, Lowell, 200 yards, second; John Bedell, Lynbrook, 100 yards, third; W. A. Butz, New Haven, 200 yards, fourth; Thomas Hunter, Cambridgeport, 150 yards, fifth. Time, 10:29.

BOSTON GETS PIATT.

Chicago American's Star Twirler Will Be Found on Hub National Team.

BOSTON, MASS., Aug. 17.—Wiley Piatt, Clark Griffith's clever southpaw pitcher, was a happy man yesterday afternoon at the Huntington avenue grounds.

While he refused to say so in as many words, on the most reliable authority it was learned that he had in his pocket a certified check for $500, signed by Treasurer Billings, of the Boston National league organization. The check was advance money for Piatt's services for the Boston Nationals next season, and the news will come with much surprise to the local baseball world.

Treasurer Billings refused to either affirm or deny the story, but to those who are on the inside, there is no doubt but Piatt holds the check, or either cashed it yesterday afternoon.

Piatt was in a gleeful mood throughout yesterday afternoon. He was in the grand stand and did not take much pains to conceal the fact that he had the $500 safe.

While the news that Piatt is secured is a surprise, it is well known that the Boston Nationals have been after a left-handed pitcher for some time. Neither Billings, Soden nor Conant would say who they were after, but the triumvirate always suggested that something big would happen in a short time.

Even with the fact that Piatt has $500 belonging to the Boston Nationals, Clark Griffith, the manager and captain of the Chicago Americans, does not believe that Piatt will play in Boston next season. "I don't think Piatt is for getting the money," in fact, I told him to go after $1,000 instead of half the sum," said Griffith yesterday.

THREE-CORNERED RACE.

Freeman, Nelson and McFarland Will Ride in the Star Event.

The three-cornered race between Howard Freeman, Floyd McFarland and Joe Nelson at the Colosseum track to, Allegheny tonight, will be the first event of its kind in Pittsburgh, and is certain to prove of interest to the lovers of cycle racing in this city.

An additional feature that will be of interest will be the ride of Nelson, the wonderful boy racer, against the mile record in competition. Nelson in his workout yesterday rode the mile, five miles being made at a 1:22 gait, and the last mile being finished in 1:18.

His manager is confident that he can lower the mile record and also the 20-mile record, recently made by McLean, and the boy in the race tonight will try for both of them.

The entries for the half-mile novice, which will be the first event of the meet tonight, are E. D. Nell, E. D. Huff, Harry Roessing, W. V. Campbell and F. Hoffman.

The entries for the one mile handicap are Harry Brown, E. D. Nell, Percy Brown, C. C. Hartman, F. Hoffman, C. E. Leonard, Harry Bupp, Charles Reel, Harry McCue, Clyde Thomas and David Moller.

BOTH TRAINING HARD.

Youngs and Kennedy Will Be in Good Shape for Their Kittanning Bout.

Quite a large crowd of people assembled at the training quarters of Joe Youngs in West Liberty yesterday, to see the Buffalo fighter train for his 20-round contest with Eddie Kennedy, which is scheduled to take place at Kittanning opera house, next Wednesday night.

Youngs put on the gloves with three local boxers on Saturday and demonstrated that he is a good, hard hitter. He also punched the bag for an hour and quit feeling strong. Youngs and his manager will go to Kittanning today and finish training at the race track.

Eddie Kennedy is not overlooking any bets in the way of training. He is getting down to hard work and expects to be in the best condition by Wednesday. He went to Kittanning yesterday and will put on the finishing touches at the Cliff Spring Inn.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Coffee futures opened quiet, with prices unchanged, ruled exceptionally dull and featureless all the session, and closed steady 20 net unchanged. Foreign markets, with the exception of Hamburg, were closed owing to holiday and official advices therefore absent. Local influences were unimportant, speculative interest was missing and operations by both bull and bear leaders too narrow to affect prices. Total sales for the day were 5,750 bags, including September at 4.95c; December at 5.05c; January at 5.05c; March at 5.20c; May at 5.30c; June at 5.35c.

NEXT CONGRESS LIKELY TO SHOW LITTLE CHANGE

Chairman Babcock Figures on as Large Republican Majority as at Present.

SOME LOSSES AND GAINS

Of Twenty-Nine Additional Members in the House, the Democrats Cannot Elect More Than Ten—Prosperity Too Strong a Factor.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
925 Fifteenth St., N. W.,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 17.

Naturally, from a national standpoint, the chief interest in the November election lies in the control of the next house of representatives. The Republicans have such a majority in the senate that it is impossible for the Democrats to capture it this year, and as the president is of the same faith the Republicans are again determined to control the house, so as to have united action on all party measures. The Democrats are also working like beavers to secure a majority in the house, but their success is mainly desired for the effect on the future, as a Democratic victory this year might aid them in the great fight two years hence. But all indications point to Republican success this year as well as in 1900, and many of the Democrats privately concede that this is true so far as this year is concerned.

Chairman Babcock of the Republican congressional committee is absolutely confident of success and goes even farther, and predicts that the party majority in the next house will be as large as it is in the present house. This means that the committee expects the Republicans to elect 40 more representatives than the opposition Democrats, fusion and Populists combined. Mr. Babcock argues, first of all, that the Republicans have an advantage in the additional districts provided for in the new apportionment. There are 29 of these new districts as follows: One each in Arkansas, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Florida, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, North Dakota, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin; two each in Minnesota, Pennsylvania and New Jersey; three each in New York, Illinois and Texas.

Conceded to Democracy.

Of these 29 new districts, only 10 are in states that are normally Democratic. As, however, the Democrats are certain to secure one district in Minnesota, through the reapportionment there, 11 districts are conceded to the Democrats.

The latter are figuring on 12, but even if they should secure this number there are still 17 left for the Republicans, showing a large proportion for the latter party. The net gain for the Republicans from the new districts is expected to be five, which, at the very beginning, will offset the loss of five Republican districts to the Democrats. The Republicans also admit the possibility that the Democrats may gain a district or two in Minnesota, Michigan and Wisconsin, owing to local conditions.

On the other hand, Chairman Babcock looks for solid delegations from the far west, and little if any change in the eastern and middle states. After a careful canvass of the whole country he declared he saw no signs of a Democratic landslide, and, in fact, in some sections it was hard to find signs of any Democratic party at all. This was noticeable wherever the present prosperity continues.

A careful canvass of the situation as it now exists indicates plainly that the Republicans are certain to carry the next house by a majority of at least 22. This, however, concedes to the Democrats every district that can be classed as doubtful.

Some Doubt in Pennsylvania.

In this connection it is worth noting that some of the districts conceded to the Democrats are indeed doubtful. Two of them are in Pennsylvania. The York-Adams district is naturally Democratic, but as a part of the old Cumberland-Adams-York district it was carried twice by the Republicans. Two years ago Representative Lewis, Republican, was elected and those acquainted with the situation have assured me that Mr. Lewis could have been re-elected this year by an increased majority, but he has declined to be a candidate, owing to the failure of the national leaders to show an interest in the district. Two years ago Mr. Lewis was compelled to bear all his expenses. This year he was willing to make the race if given assistance. This was not promised, and he declined. The nominee will probably be Mr. Lafean of York, a popular manufacturer, and he will undoubtedly be elected, owing to the feud in the Democratic ranks and the alleged shortage in county funds. The Democratic feud in the Berks-Lehigh district also gives promise of a Republican victory.

Thus there are two districts in Pennsylvania, classed above as Democratic, which will probably elect Republicans. In Delaware, if harmony is secured, a Republican will again be elected there. And similar instances can be pointed out in a number of other districts.

MARIETTA, O., Aug. 17.—(Special.)—Fire of unknown origin broke out in the Marietta Paint and Coloring Company's building at 2 o'clock this morning. The entire building was destroyed and the loss is estimated at $40,000. The owners will rebuild.

ZOO AT HIGHLAND DREW BIG CROWD

IT WAS A RECORD-BREAKER FOR THE PRESENT SUMMER.

Latest Litter of Lion Cubs Was the Center of Attraction—Many Rural Visitors Were There—Schenley Slot Machines Collected Illegally Many Coins.

The attendants at the zoological garden in Highland park rubbed their eyes with astonishment yesterday at the enormous crowds that passed through the animal house. There have been big crowds every Sunday all summer, but yesterday was a record-breaker, one that nobody seems able to account for. The urban population that come might perhaps have waited for just such a day, pleasantly cool, yet bright and sunshiny, and the rural visitors must have thought that it would soon be too late in the season to see the zoo at its best.

The crowd was almost evenly divided between strangers from the country and small towns and people from Allegheny and Pittsburgh. From noon until 3 p. m. the benches and tables provided in the park for those who bring their lunch along were filled, whole families sitting down and enjoying themselves. A few of the visitors seemed to be a little shocked at the sight of the men and teams at work on the new reservoir.

The Cubs Drew Crowd.

The animals were at their best, and children and grown persons crowded many deep in front of the cage wherein the lioness mother and her babes were confined. The lion cubs were born 12 days ago, but yesterday was the first day that the public was allowed to see them. The mother was a favored animal, because as she is nursing her young she was fed as on week days, thereby arousing the envy of the other carnivora, for whom Sunday is a fast day every week for the purpose of keeping them in healthy condition. Ernest Tretow, the head keeper of the zoo, said the cubs were in fine fettle and gave promise of being healthy animals.

Comparatively few visitors were at Schenley park, and the attendants in the conservatory had little to do. A few persons sat about under the trees, and these seemed to be sightseers from outside the city.

Roads Were Lively.

The fine roads through the park were well patronized by drivers of horses, and scores of autos skimmed along at the speed limit. Superintendent William Falconer is making rapid progress with the preparation of the lawn bed in front of the conservatory. Neptune's statue has been removed, and the improvement thereby effected in the view is wonderful. The statue has been removed to the lily pond in the bend of the road and it will always be half submerged in water, the sea god's proper element.

There might have been a little excitement had the proprietor of the slot machines to the left of the library building been present. Three of the slot machines were out of order, although one could not learn the fact until after he had deposited his money beyond recall. It is calculated that these imperfect machines illegally collected several dollars. Some of the victims discussed the propriety of breaking up a few of the machines, but satisfied themselves with reviling the absent owner.

AT TRACTION PARKS.

Great Crowds Turned Out Yesterday—Good Attractions for This Week.

Yesterday was an ideal park day, and it being the first for some weeks without rain, all the traction parks were crowded. The weather at Kennywood, Calhoun, Oakwood and Southern was just right and the concerts and other entertainments were enjoyed by many thousands of people. The largest crowds, perhaps, were at Calhoun, where Phinney's United States band of Chicago, which will be at Kennywood all week, gave two exceptionally good concerts.

The Homestead Library band and Joseph F. Horitz, vocal soloist, were the attractions at Kennywood, where the crowds were big, as usual. Out at Southern Rocoreto's Concert band and Vic Richards, minstrel monologist, pleased over 10,000 people afternoon and evening. Down at Oakwood the Second Brigade band was the attraction.

Kennywood and Southern will have entertaining programs all week. At the former Phinney's band will give afternoon and evening concerts. At Southern there will be another week of vaudeville. The program includes the Harris quartet, Hugh F. Blaney, balladist and monologist, and Lonnie Fallett, impersonator.

Something new in concerts will be at Highland and Schenley parks Tuesday and Thursday evenings. The concert will be given by Rocereto's band, and nothing but rag-time music will be played. There will be no classical compositions.

FORCED TO CONFESS.

Oklahoma Outlaws Choked Until They Told of Whereabouts of Their Companions in Crime.

CORDELL, O. T., Aug. 17.—A mob of several hundred men took Levi Reed and Bud Wingo, outlaws, captured recently in a raid on the Casey-Cravens gang, from the county jail here late last night, and strung them up to trees to force them to reveal the whereabouts of their leaders and to give information regarding their crimes.

The outlaws finally gave the desired information and the mob took them back to jail and disappeared. Apparently they will endeavor to get the rest of the gang. Reed was so badly strangled that he was revived with difficulty.

SEVENTEEN TO STAND TRIALS FOR MURDERS

Awful Evidences of Present Reign of Crime and Disorder.

PROSECUTOR'S HARD WORK

The Office of District Attorney John C. Haymaker is Burdened Down by Labor of Preparing Cases—Demoralization of Police to Blame.

That crime, confusion and disorder are just now holding high carnival in Pittsburgh and Allegheny county is demonstrated in the great number of murder trials to come before the courts at the approaching term of court. Sixteen men and one woman must stand trial for their lives at this term. In addition, many of those charged with murder are still at large, and there are other cases awaiting investigation by the coroner.

District Attorney John C. Haymaker and his assistants are so burdened down with the preparation of cases against murder suspects that they have little time to give to the other departments of their work. Some of the cases to be tried at the coming term will be difficult to prove, and the work of the district attorney's office is thereby multiplied.

The prevalency of crime in the city, especially, is largely due to the present demoralization of the police force, and the fact that burglary, highway robbery and the running of resorts where liquor is sold illegally are occupations so popular that scarcely a day passes without a dozen reports from operations of the kind.

The disclosures in the public press during the past few months are only a tithe of what might be produced if an organized investigation were carried on.

The following list of accused persons and the murders they will be tried for is prima facie evidence of the condition of affairs:

Joseph Allen, for murder of Achsah King, on July 23.

John J. Broderick, for murder of William Larkin, on June 27.

Robert Burks, for murder of Phillip Rissing, June 28.

Ike Harris, for murder of John Williams, June 20.

Fred Thiess, for murder of Benath Tusfire, June 22.

Buck Sanders, for murder of John Markoff, June 16.

Andrew Heisel, for murder of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Rose Russell, May 23.

Guiseppo Morello, for murder of Antonio Valle, May 4.

Josiah Williams, for murder of Rosci Clone, August 8.

John Ruskosky, for murder of infant child, August 11.

Peter Tanton Larosa and Antonio Susa, both held for the murder of Antonio Galiena.

W. J. Byers, for murder of Gus Layten, June 10, 1901.

John McWilliams and his wife Margaret, also charged with the murder of Gus Layten.

Garfield McIntyre, for murder of William Mitchell, February 27.

Officer William Reilly, for killing William Moore, August 11.

SHOOTING AT HERMINIE.

Steve Giraffa Dying and His Assailant Is Still at Large.

IRWIN, PA., Aug. 17.—(Special.)—Steve Giraffa was fatally shot at Herminie last night by Iquatz Homnie. The two men and their wives occupied one of the double houses of the coal company.

According to the story of the former's wife, Homnie came into the room and accused Giraffa of circulating a report that Homnie had a wife in the old country. Some words followed and Homnie pulled a revolver and fired. The bullet struck Giraffa in the stomach and he fell. Homnie thereupon ransacked the room, took what money he could find and fled.

Local officers were called this morning and a search was made all day, without success.

It is supposed that Homnie is hiding in the woods near the town. When he left the house he only wore a pair of trousers and an undershirt, and on this account it is thought that he will soon be caught. Reports from Herminie this evening state that Giraffa is dying.

Retreat from Custer Recalled.

GUTHRIE, O. T., Aug. 17.—The retreat of the Cheyenne and Arapahoe Indians from Gen. Custer and his troops was re-enacted today by 400 members of those tribes on their council grounds in western Oklahoma. The occasion was the annual feast, at which the Indians indulge in their war and crow dances.

MANY WERE FINED BY MAGISTRATES

MRS. SPIKES, WHO SLASHED HUSBAND, HEADS THE LIST.

K. Grin Had Another Man's Slot Machine. Joseph Rinold, a Pole, Charged With Stealing $300—Aged Women Have a Duel With Beer Bottles.

The Pittsburgh police magistrates yesterday morning gave 97 persons hearings at the various city station houses. In Allegheny Magistrate Henry Hunneshagen had 18 prisoners before him for hearing, at the Allegheny Central station.

At the Pittsburgh Central station Magistrate David J. McGarey had 35 cases, most of which were drunks. Mrs. Minnie Spikes, colored, who slashed her husband early yesterday morning in the vestibule of the public safety building in Sixth avenue, was fined $50 or 90 days to the workhouse yesterday by Magistrate McGarey. The couple live at No. 831 First avenue. Spikes, who has a large cut across the cheek and on his neck, was able to appear at the hearing.

William Green was fined $50 for raising trouble in a Wylie avenue pawn shop because the proprietor refused to purchase a pair of trousers from him on Saturday. K. Grin was sent to the workhouse. He was found lying against a wall in the Panhandle railroad yards with a slot machine, which it is alleged was stolen.

Dennis Cratty and Frank Cunningham of Brownsville avenue, South Side, were held at No. 7 police station for a further hearing by Magistrate McGarey on a charge of larceny, made by Frank Moore, a contractor of No. 88 Brownsville avenue.

Magistrate J. V. McMasters at No. 8 police station heard 35 cases and 10 at No. 5 station. Among the prisoners was George Hartman, who was committed to jail on a charge of being with Henry Gilkey when the latter shot at Railroad Officers Swift Goebert and John Palmer at Pitcairn on July 17. Hartman has just been released from the workhouse, where he was sent at the time the shooting occurred, until Gilkey, who was shot in the leg, recovered sufficiently to be sent to jail for court trial.

Dennis Hariston, colored, and 14 visitors who were found at his house at No. 19 Thirteenth street when it was raided yesterday morning by the police, was fined.

Joseph Rinold, a Pole, was held for trial at court by Magistrate McMasters on a charge of taking over $300 belonging to Benjamin Buffalo, with whom he boarded at No. 3818 Butler street.

Mary Jackson and Elizabeth Naylor, both of whom are over 60 years old, were fined $5 each by Magistrate McMasters yesterday. It is alleged the women, who were both badly cut, had a fight in Thirty-fourth street Saturday night, during which they threw beer bottles at each other.

At the Allegheny police station George Turner of No. 42 Carroll street paid $10; Thomas Kalb of No. 888 River avenue was given 30 days to the workhouse, and John Darling of California avenue was given six days to the same institution. The three men were charged with abusing their wives. William Hughes, Asa Scott and Charles Wilson, all colored, who raised a row at the ball game Saturday afternoon, were each fined $10.

MURDER IN IOWA.

Woman Dead, Her Husband Dying and Their Hoard of Money Is Missing.

MUSCATINE, IA., Aug. 17.—The decomposed body of Mrs. Jessie Tuman was found tonight 100 yards from her home, near here, and her husband, unconscious and with mortal wounds, was found on the floor in the house, which showed signs of a desperate struggle.

The couple are known to have had considerable money, which cannot be found. Dan Williams, who for two weeks made his home with the Tumans, has also disappeared. Williams is said to have come from Texas. The murderer of Mrs. Tuman had evidently followed her when she made an effort to escape, and brained her with an axe, which was found close to her body.

PROPOSES A UNION OF CENTRAL EUROPE

German Political Economist Says That Is Only Hope Against Industrial America and Great Britain.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

BERLIN, Aug. 17.—Baron August Sartorious Von Waltershausen, professor of political economy at Strassburg university, and one of the leading German authorities on American subjects, will contribute a striking article to a forthcoming number of the Zeitschrift fur Sozialwissesbschaft on the United States of Central Europe.

The writer will argue that the Central European states will sooner or later be compelled to erect a common tariff barrier against the aims of the United States to economic ascendency, or against those of Great Britain, with greatly moderated tariffs and perhaps free trade between themselves.

Baron Von Waltershausen believes that eventually a complete political union between Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Belgium and Holland is probable, and that this union will give these countries an impregnable economic position.

The baron will argue also that great states like the United States and Prussia possess recuperative powers superior to those of the isolated and small countries of Western Europe. In support of this statement he instances the fact that the United States issued loans at 7 per cent at the end of the civil war and refunded these loans at 2 per cent in 1802.

CHINA IS AWAKENING.

Viceroys Believe That Friendly Commerce Is Necessary—Want Exhibit at St. Louis Fair.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 17.—Liu Kun Yi, Chang Chih Tung and Yuan Shai Kai, viceroys respectively of Nan Kin and Hankow, and governor of Pe Chi Li, in separate conferences with T. S. Charrettes, tariff commissioner for the United States, have concurred in making two significant and unequivocal declarations.

The first is that the critical time has arrived when China must make a supreme effort for the promotion of commerce and friendly intercourse with America and Europe.

The second is that as an evidence of her good faith and her appreciation of the generous policy of the United States toward her, China will make an unprecedented exhibit at the St. Louis exposition.

New Velvets for Fall.

Velvets were "commanded" by Queen Fashion last Fall, and the command was generally obeyed. Within the royal circle a command, you know, is simply an invitation. Fashion has issued a stronger command than ever for Velvets for the coming Fall and Winter—especially as to trimmings.

We are showing a range of pretty Fall colorings in the popular Panne Velvets at $1 a yard. You will see the same styles elsewhere at $1.25.
